

Although the great bulwark of Mohammedanism can be found among the 40,000,000 Arabic-speaking peoples living from Morocco to Iran, the faith has an estimated 250,000,000 followers.

Crosby Creates Hits in Comedy Film With Hope

Always a rich reservoir of new tunes, the movies have been contributing most of the fresh-minted song hits that have become popular with the public. Many of these have originated in the pictures in which Bing Crosby has appeared. So it is only natural that there should be a new sheaf of popular song hits in Bing's latest starring picture in which he appears with Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour. The new film, Paramount's comedy with music, "Road to Zanzibar," which opens Saturday at the Plaza theatre in Hawthorne, effervesces with five new melodies. By coincidence the first picture in which these two starred together, "Road to Singapore," also introduced a quintette of new tunes to the singing, whistling, playing and listening public. "The Road to Zanzibar," the second starring melody-vehicle for the trio, offers these five new numbers: "It's Always You," "Birds of a Feather," "You're Dangerous," "You Lucky People You" and "African Etude."

Apprentices at Col. Steel Co. Number 300

Through this method, known as "upgrading," it is possible to expand from one shift to three or more shifts using the original personnel as a nucleus. In training men for special defense work, such as the manufacture of armor plate, bombs, and shells, it has been necessary to give large numbers of men intensive instruction in the operation of single-purpose machines.

As a preliminary to learning these operations, many of the men are given training in machine operations in the public schools or in the company machine shops. This kind of training as well as the upgrading of men in regular mill operations, is separate from the subsidiaries' long-range apprenticeship program where more than 1,800 apprentices are now taking four-year courses in steelmaking in steel-fabricating units of United States Steel Corporation.

Many Attending Classes

Heading the list of these subsidiaries in number of employees undergoing job training of all types, are the Carnegie Illinois Steel Corporation and the National Tube Company, with approximately 4,000 trainees each. The American Bridge Company is next with 2,400, followed by the American Steel and Wire Company with 1,500, the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company with 1,500 and Columbia Steel Company with 800.
