THE CAT: MYSTIC AND MASTER

Ida M. Melten, prominent zoologist, has condensed 24 years of study into a book: "The Science and the Mystery of the Cat." Cat haters criticize her for wasting time so worthlessly — but she is praised by cat lovers for useful, overdue research. That says Zoologist Melten, is to be expected, since the cat has the greatest personality among animals — measured in power to attract and repel. Some people may be indifferent toward dogs, but no one is indifferent toward cats. You like cats or you dislike cats. There is no really neutral ground.

Cats existed 40,000,000 years before man—and took him in stride when he came along. Man made gods of cats in ancient cultures. In the middle Ages men dreaded cats as demons and tried to exterminate them with most horrible cruelties. But the cat — aloof, imperious, disdainful, dainty — survived both extremes of human idiosyncrasy.

The cat has never yielded to man's yoke, as the dog and horse have done. He pulls no loads, rounds up no sheep, guards no homes. If he catches mice, it is solely because he enjoys catching them. All over the world, cats by the million live on man's largesse — but give him no service in return. The cat grins derisively at his human hosts while he basks in the warmth of their fireplaces. Perhaps the wisdom of his forty million years head start in antiquity makes of the alley tom a true mystic and the master of the upstart human race.

M. W. D. Selling Much Salvage Material

Metropolitan Water District officials disclosed today that they are finding a ready market for vast quantities of salvage material and machinery, due to the effect of priorities and the need of contractors to get important projects under way. Salvage sales from the district's salvage yard at the old Banning field headquarters amounted to $58,000 for July, August and September, the purchasing agent reported.

Supervisor Urges Co. to Hold Land

Los Angeles county should not sell any of the 90,000 parcels of tax-delinquent property that can be used to house indigents on county relief rolls, Chairman Roger W. Jessup of the board of supervisors stated in a resolution before the board this week.

Mother-Cat Had Quake Premonition

The best "animals-and-quake" story comes from Miss Lute Fraser, secretary of The Herald who recently moved into a new home she purchased at 25934 Cypress st., Lomita. She said her mother-cat had been uneasy in the house for two days prior to the temblor and Thursday night refused to come in at all. "She came to the door and called her kittens, trying all her feline blandishments to get us to let them out with her," Miss Fraser said. "Friday night she came in the house and was as quiet as ever — she knew it was all over."

Total exports of all aeronautical equipment to the British amounted to more than $24,000,000 during the first seven months of 1941, according to Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

Honey is imported from Cuba, Mexico, Guatemala, the Dominican Republic.
