

Army to Exam Selectees at L.A. Center

A new system of physical examination for selective service registrants, designed to protect the registrant and to eliminate induction station rejections by having advanced physical check-ups made by Army doctors, will begin in California Nov. 24, according to Brig. General Joseph O. Donovan, state director of selective service.

Under the new plan, registrants will be directed to Los Angeles where regular Army examining teams will conduct a combined primary and final physical examination. Registrants, following examinations will be returned to their homes through their local boards which will be advised of Army board findings.

In event Army physical examinations are passed, and barring new medical developments, Class I-A selectees will be called to report directly to reception centers within approximately 60 days after the Army physical examination.

This revised induction procedure eliminates the former necessity for complete physical examination by civilian medicals. Local board physicians will be required to make only a simple physical inspection of registrants.

General Donovan pointed out that such procedure of physical examinations assures a registrant almost certain induction upon delivery to Army centers and to the greatest degree possible removes the former possible hardship of a registrant passing his initial board test only to be turned down by Army examiners.

Billion-A-Year Television Prophecy

LOS ANGELES — Television will bring the greatest single development America has ever known when once our national emergency is over. It will be a billion dollar a year industry.

This is the prophecy made by Miss Catherine Sibley, of the University of California Extension Division.

England had no stone buildings until 680 A.D., when it is recorded, an abbot imported stone masons and glaziers.

It has been said that the Roman emperor Nero "stod his mules with silver, built a golden house for his body, but his soul lived in a mud hut."

Walteria Scouts Get Charter at Program

Walteria's Boy Scout Troop 240 is now full fledged with charter and all, and is now prepared to plan a full winter's program under Scoutmaster F. E. Rankin.

The charter was presented last Wednesday evening by S. M. Barr, district Scout Commissioner, at a potluck dinner sponsored by the Walteria Civic Organization at which the Scouts and Campfire Girls were honored guests.

Roy Wilson Jr., opened the program by leading the pledge of allegiance to the flag. A short business meeting was led by President J. W. Crowther of the Civic Organization.

The program included songs by the Campfire Girls, led by Mrs. Ann Lipphardt, guardian; and Scouts in a campfire scene, the background of which was painted by Mrs. Naomi Biele and her helpers of the recreation department.

Laziness Grounds for Divorce Among Indians

BERKELEY — Modern divorce courts have nothing on the Yuman-Indian who inhabit the Southwestern United States and Northwestern Mexico. Laziness, among other reasons, was sufficient grounds for severing the matrimonial ties.

Tommies, Soviets Inspect a Tank

Somewhere in Middle East, British troops and Soviet soldiers fraternize by inspecting a tank. Large sections of British public opinion, notably labor organizations, would like to see Churchill Government go to aid of Russia by opening new front in which Russian and British troops would do more than fraternize. (Passed by British censor.)

Thanksgiving

Although we live in a different age devoid of the simpleness of Puritan life, we still possess much the same fear and faith in the future that the Puritans had on the first Thanksgiving Day.

This year, more than ever, we're thankful on Thanksgiving Day. Thankful for America, for its wealth of forest, farm and mine. Thankful for the spirit, the strength, love and dreams that have grown increasingly strong since that first Thanksgiving Day.

And we here in Torrance count even greater blessings this Thanksgiving Day. Not in platitudes, but in honest truth. "The temblor might have been worse." It's a real Thanksgiving for us with our opportunity to grow up to our dreams and faith in the future.
