Plan Savings To Help Buck Rising Costs

EVERYONE is aware of increases in the cost of living, and if your income remains fixed you must take steps to meet these new demands.

There are countless ways in which you may economize without upsetting your usual way of living. A little thought and planning is all that is required, says Mary B. Finke, who outlines a chart for saving money in the December Good Housekeeping magazine. Ask yourself these questions. Miss Finke suggests to see if there aren't some easy ways of cutting down expenses.

Do I fall to make a wardrobe plan at the beginning of each season—buy things that don't go together—get disgusted because I have "nothing to wear"—and spend extra money to restore my self-respect?

Do I plan my meals to take advantage of good buys in the market, especially fruits and vegetables in season, and do I know how to cook the less-expensive cuts of meat so that they equal choice cuts in appetite appeal?

Do my utility bills—light, gas, telephone—represent real utility or thoughtless waste?

Do I play bridge for higher stakes than I should, because I'm too much of a coward to call a halt?

Do I take unnecessary taxis—when I justify because I'm late—when the truth is I'm lazy about getting started in time?

Have I ever looked into how much we could save on insurance by putting aside a fixed sum every week and paying one premium annually?

Have I ever learned to say smilingly and without either resentment or bitterness, "I'm sorry, but I just can't afford it"?

Florida produces 84 per cent of the phosphate in U. S. Perfume: Any odor used to down a worse one.

A Spanish adobe house, built in San Francisco in 1776, has been remodeled for an army officer's club.

Detskoye Selo, Russia, was the first town on the European continent to be lighted by electricity.

Strange, but those who remain on the level usually rise the highest.

"We'll be SNOWED UNDER this Christmas"

"It isn't practical to provide a telephone system BIG enough for all the folks who want to chat across the miles on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

"Hundreds of us will be on duty to put your calls through. If they're delayed—and some are bound to be—please understand and be patient.

"Thank you."
