The Torrance high school B grid squad suffered a 20 to 0 defeat at the hands of San Pedro's class B team at San Pedro last Friday afternoon. Only once did the Torrance lads threaten to score when they intercepted a pass on the San Pedro 45-yard line and carried it within 18 yards of the goal stripe.

Two Injured in South Pacific Talk to Steel Worker Crews

The men and women of Columbia Steel Co. were given some first-hand contact with the South Pacific war fronts by a Marine and a sailor who had been there. Last Tuesday, through arrangements made by the plant labor-management committee, two young veterans, both recuperating from injuries and sickness received from service in this theater of the war, were on hand at 8 o'clock in the morning to tell of their experiences to workers coming off shift. Again at 4 o'clock in the afternoon several talks were given so that almost every employee was able to hear their stories without losing a minute of production time.

Pharmacist Mate 2/c Frank E. Hayward, U.S.N., was among the first group to land on Guadalcanal. He told of the conditions under which medical aid was given during the battle, and the difficulties that had to be met. The general feeling among all those engaged in the battle, he said, was of utmost cooperation to get the job done as quickly as possible.

Platoon Sergt. J. C. Faulkner, U.S.M.C., was with Carlson's Raiders in the raid on Makin Island where thousands of drums of Jap-held American high-test gasoline were destroyed along with the other installations. The need for good equipment and lots of it, was the thing that Sergt. Faulkner said was in the minds of most men who had been under the fire of Jap machine guns and mortars.

Lieut. (j.g.) B. F. Schwartz, U.S.N.R., in introducing the two speakers, thanked the steel workers for the good job they have been doing, and expressed the hope of all the boys in the armed services that they would not let down until final and eventual victory was won.

IT TAKES GAS TO MAKE HOT WATER "HOT"
These wartime suggestions will help you in cooperating with the Government's fuel-conservation program:
AN ABUNDANCE of hot water on tap any time you want it is one of the real luxuries of civilized living, and your automatic gas storage water heater gives you just that kind of hot water service. But it takes gas to make hot water "hot"—and the Government is now asking everybody to conserve fuels of all kinds.
Fortunately, by avoiding waste, you can have essential hot water and conserve gas, too! Here are some suggestions:
1. Don't let hot water "run"—for rinsing dishes or washing hands.
2. Repair leaky hot-water faucets promptly.
3. 140° F. is the best hot water temperature for most home uses. Higher temperature-settings waste gas.
When you save gas at home, you help to conserve fuel for the Battle of the Pacific.
