Newspapers Are Lauded By OPA Director

Southern California's newspapers were given wide praise by Paul Barksdale d'Orr, Southland OPA director, as the annual celebration of Newspaper Week came to a close.

"When the history of the office of Price Administration is written," d'Orr said, "it will be discovered that the functions of the agency would have been severely handicapped had it not been for the excellent support given us by the press."

"I wish to take this opportunity, in the name of the agency, to thank the press of the nine counties served by this office."
