

No Longer a Dream - - -

This is his priceless moment: Dreamed of, hoped for, and anticipated countless times. He is back with those who know him, honor him and love him. Now, more than anything else, he wants to regain that old familiar feeling—find his place in the community—become an integral part of its workings — and settle down to a normal, wholesome life. Like the rest of us, he realizes that the harsh realities of peace involve a new set of problems and responsibilities, and to meet these realities, we must continue to strive and sacrifice in order to obtain the security and happiness that must result from our great victory.

GENERAL PETROLEUM CORP.

TORRANCE, CALIFORNIA

or
of aj
tr
in E
st
in
of
F
of
in
of
is er
te
in ti
pe
sa
de w
of
tr
ti
of
or sh
of
re
ci
st
in
of
ar
pe
st
ti
bi th
st
of
m
cl se oi
es
of
if
in el
w
ni
ty
fc
is si t pe
si
sp
S
m
ti
fi
C
C
T
C
C
U
e
h o
ti
g
s
s
t
a
C
T
u
e
s
t
u
y
o
s
n
r
h
b
S
a
n
c
e
a
n
a
C
s
h
a
n
o
r
s
c
t
i l
i

Ch
the
for mo
of
ron

I
div
ven
ch
ser
Inf
pe
an
in
an wa
Mo
En
the
Me

th
w
C
G
se
M
U
e
pl
io
F
h
w
h
g