Robideaux With Admiral Byrd In Antarctic

Herschel A. Robideaux, 28, chief commissary steward, USN, husband of Mrs. Nelsa June Robideaux of 1012 Crenshaw blvd., Torrance, is serving as commissary supervisor aboard the seaplane tender USS Currituck, one of 13 ships which participated in a five-month expedition in the Antarctic continent under the command of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, of Little America fame.

Task force 68, which departed early in December from ports in New York and California, is composed of 13 ships and 4,000 Navy men and civilian scientists. Operations began at the Bellary islands, south of Australia, and continued westward along the polar continent.

Objects of the explorers were to photograph and map the regions, test operation of equipment in sub-zero temperatures and study weather and sea conditions.

Robideaux, who entered the Naval service July 29, 1940, received his recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Wilmington WAA Center In Move To Local Depot

In the future all sales of the War Assets Administration previously conducted in Wilmington will be held at the Torrance Navy Supply Depot, 2201 Washington ave., according to an announcement by C. R. Fatzler, field director now in charge here.

Fatzler, formerly with the Wilmington center which closed Feb. 27, announced that spot sales will be conducted here the first and fifteenth of each month starting April 1. He revealed the move to Torrance would save the government $2,500 each month in rental.

DR. WARREN NAMED
Dr. Stafford L. Warren, chief of the medical section of the Manhattan Engineer Project during the war, has been named dean of the new medical school on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

CITIZENS AROUSED AS L.A. CONTINUES ATTEMPTS TO REMOVE SCHOOL PROPERTY

Attorney S. V. O. Pritchard, retained with the aid of private subscriptions secured through the efforts of Parks working with the Charter Committee members.

Other candidates are assisting in the campaign, Albert Isen, attorney at law, having challenged the right of Los Angeles to sell school property, in view of paragraph 18742 which declares that real estate, buildings and fixtures in a school district withdrawn from another district belongs to the new district.

Bernard Lee contributed to the fund, as did business men and civic leaders throughout the community.

James L. Lynch, vice chairman of the Charter Committee, told a group meeting in the Woman's clubhouse Thursday night that the well-being of the school children of Torrance is at stake during this fight when there is no official body to represent the interests of the people of the community in dealing with Los Angeles.

"We have had to resort to the courts, and now we are told that we must put some teeth into our action," Lynch declared, "if we are to preserve for the school children of the city of Torrance their right to property and fixtures for which the people of Torrance already have paid many times over."

"This is a moral issue, and an all-important one, due to the fact that the property being removed belongs to the people of Torrance and due to the further fact that it will be difficult to replace. Its removal will jeopardize the immediate establishment of the educational advantages which we have promised to the children of Torrance throughout the years of this campaign."

"We must lock the barn before the horse is stolen."

Carl D. Steele, taking exception to the move by Los Angeles schools, addressed a letter to V. Kersey, superintendent of the Los Angeles system, calling upon him to stop the removal of property from Torrance.

"If you are interested in the education of children outside the Los Angeles school system you will make some attempt to stop what we believe to be a retaliatory action, and prevent the sabotage and rape of the Torrance schools which may jeopardize the education of its pupils," Steele declared.

Commenting on the removal of property and the transfer of Torrance children to Lomita schools, Mrs. Wright declared that it is time for the whole community to become aroused to the situation and assert their rights.

"The people have shown their opposition to Los Angeles control at two elections in recent months, by adopting the charter and voting to affiliate with Redondo Union high school district for high school purposes, and their support now is needed to protect their rights against Los Angeles school district's latest campaign against the children of this community," Mrs. Wright declared.

Mrs. Carr deplored the half-day sessions at Torrance elementary, and was critical of the Los Angeles board for removing bungalows and then throwing more children on the short sessions.

"My children are involved," Mrs. Carr said, "but I protest not only in their interest, but in the interest of all the children of Torrance. This is a condition which cannot be allowed, and we must take what steps are at hand to protect our schools and our children. If it means going to court, that is exactly what we will do."

Mrs. Carr is the complaining taxpayer in the action being filed by Attorney Pritchard. All other candidates, excluding the Charter Committee

Mail Ballots For Merchants Group Election

The Merchants division of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce placed in the mails today ballots for the election of the officers and directors of the association for 1947.

Fourteen members' names appear on the vote blanks, from which seven will be selected. The seven will then elect officers, the remaining members serving on the board of directors.

The next meeting of the original committee of merchants will be Tuesday March 11 at 10 a.m., when the votes will be canvassed and the election results announced.

This will be followed by the installation of officers and directors of the division at a formal dinner which will be held during the last week of this month.

George Noonan, chairman of the membership campaign, announced that more than fifty members were secured during the drive last week. It was expected that this number would grow to more than one hundred as the planned program of the association gets under way.

CLOSING OF BOW AVE. REJECTED BY PLANS BODY

E. L. Voltz and Sam Goldfaden Tuesday night lost their petition for vacation and abandonment of Bow avenue between Torrance blvd. and 212th st., before the City Planning Commission Tuesday night.

When the matter came up for public hearing, the United Sulphur Co. advised that the planning commission that the closing of the street was opposed by that company.

Influence to prevent any further removal of school property from Torrance.

In my estimation removal of school property would be sabotage and rape of the district before the people of Torrance take over the schools next summer.

Sincerely yours,
Carl D. Steele

Torrance YMCA Member Drive At Half Mark

The over-all membership roundup of the Torrance Area YMCA has passed the half-way mark as reported by Membership Chairman Paul Moore Wheeler. This membership is of particular importance this year, since the overall growth of the Torrance Area association has warranted application for independent branch status.

The success of developing a large membership clientele will have a great effect on the future growth of the movement in these communities.

This year's campaign has been sparked by the outstanding membership procurement by Captain Robert I. Plomert, of the General Petroleum Corp., and his chief assistant, Wm. Tolson. Other high producers have been chairman of the board, Gil J. Derouin, Von Bergen, Dr. John Beeman, W. E. Bowen and Sam Levy.

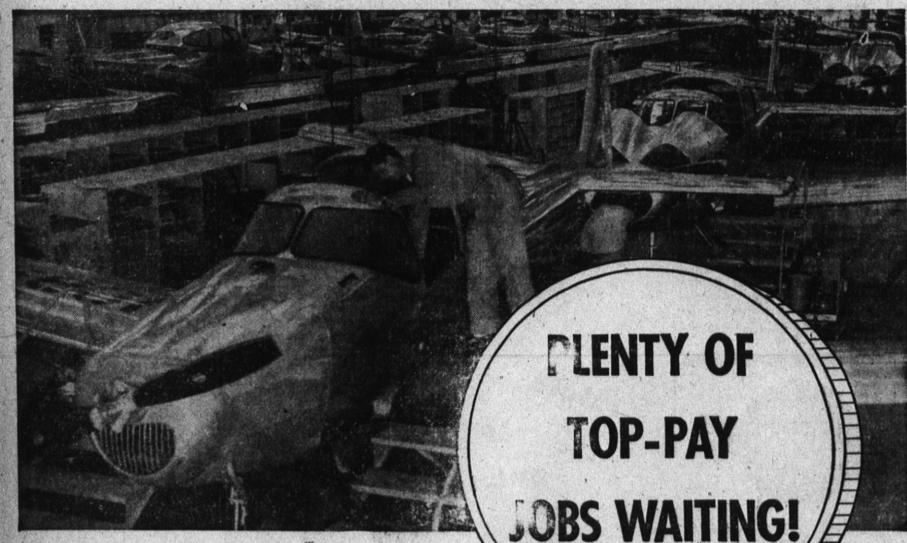

PLANNERS REJECT TRAILER CAMP ON CRENSHAW BLVD.

The petition of Alfred W. and Susan M. Hookway for a permit to construct and operate a trailer camp for 40 or more house trailers in the heavy manufacturing zone at the northwest corner of Crenshaw blvd. and Jefferson st. was denied Tuesday night by the City Planning Commission.

Protesting was the United States Navy which operates a supply depot just east of the proposed site.
