Vending Machine Men Protest Against Tax

A representative of the Western Vending Machine operators Tuesday night placed a protest before the City Council against the license fee for peanut vending machines in the city of Torrance. It is asserted by the operators that the assessment of five dollars per machine per year is too high in comparison with the amount of business done by the machines. The operators also charge that it is unconstitutional and illegal to tax a machine. It was pointed out that in other cities

GEORGIA STUMP IS PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE AID

Among the employees of the Los Angeles county health department who have been assigned to the local health center during the past month is Miss Georgia Stump, 1465 W. 182nd St., Gardena. Miss Stump is a public health nurse aid and will work in the Torrance health district as needed. In the Los Angeles area, the city governments have adjusted the assessments commensurate with the income of the machines. A meeting with the city attorney was suggested and the matter to be referred to the Council later.

Youthful Girls Complain Of Molester

A complaint was received by Police Monday afternoon that a man in a green car was molesting three young girls near El Prado park. The girls, aged fourteen, ten and four years, became frightened and called the police. The police are again warning parents and children of this menace and advise victims to note license numbers and other identifying factors in order to facilitate the early apprehension of the culprits.
