

Don't Eat Raw Hamburger, Says Health Officer

With the occurrence of the first case of trichinosis reported in Los Angeles county in two years, a warning has been issued by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, assistant Los Angeles county health officer relative to eating raw ground meat as well as uncooked pork.

Investigations by F. X. Kemp and Paul Bosman, food and drug inspectors for the County health department, show the reported trichinosis was caused by eating raw hamburger which was ground in the same machine as was raw hamburger which was used for grinding pork for sausage.

In the precautions against eating uncooked ground meat, the health officer pointed out that on occasion the butcher may grind his pork and his hamburger in the same machine and may not clean out the blade after grinding the pork. If this occurs, the beef or other meat ground in the same machine as the pork might be contaminated with the trichinosis larvae.

Inasmuch as it is possible for pork, even though inspected, to contain this dormant larvae, Doctor Sutherland feels that trichinosis may be more prevalent than is reported. "Within a few days after eating underdone or uncooked infected meat, the patient develops loss of appetite, pain in the abdomen, vomiting and frequently diarrhea," he said. "These symptoms can be mistaken for several other ailments. However, in another few days a fever develops with a swelling over the forehead and around the eyes. There is intense muscular pain similar to rheumatic pains."

He cautioned that a physician should be consulted in the advent of these symptoms as the

During the two years since V-J day veterans have become more and more familiar with their entitlement to benefits under federal law. There are some points, however, which seem to confuse them as much as ever. Some of these "points of confusion" are listed below in question and answer form.

"Are My Dependents Entitled to Veterans Administration Medical Care?"

Answer: No. VA medical care is authorized by law for veterans only. Many veterans seem to have the impression because they have service connected disabilities their dependents are entitled to hospitalization or outpatient treatment under federal law. This is not the case. Often, surviving beneficiaries of deceased veterans ask if they are entitled to VA medical care. The rule laid down by federal law is that VA medical care is for veterans only.

"Can I Get Glasses or Dental Care Through the VA?"

Answer: Only if service connected; or medically determined necessary for service connected disability; or necessary part of hospital treatment or domiciliary care; or necessary to prevent interruption of training authorized under Public Law 16.

He further cautioned that all pork should be cooked until the flesh is grayish-white before eating as only heat or freezing will kill the trichinosis larvae.

Southern California's year-around circuit of colorful community events turns into the Fall backstretch in September, with horse racing, old mission fiestas, fairs, rodeos, water sports, garden tours, and grape harvest festivals.

This was reported today by the All-Year club of Southern California, community tourist promotion organization. More information about these and other events may be obtained from the All-Year Club Free Visitors' Bureau, 517 W. 6th st., in downtown Los Angeles.

At Orange, in the heart of the citrus belt, open house, with free orange juice, will be held at all orange industries plants September 12-13, and an Orange Festival queen will be crowned.

Fairs, highlight of the Fall season, will be staged at the Broadview Farm Horse Show in San Diego county, September 14; at San Fernando, September 19-21; Antelope Valley, September 11-14, and at Bakersfield, September 23-28.

In Pasadena, a two-day outdoor Art Fair, September 19 and 20, will feature artists at work—sculptors modeling; painters and photographers picturing a "Miss Pasadena Artists Model;" and artisans creating stained glass.

A festival emphasizing community industries will be held at Fullerton Sept. 25, with typical California barbecue. The grape harvest starts in the vineyards of Southern California, and Escondido in San Diego County celebrates its Grape Day Sept. 29. Mission Fiesta of San Gabriel is set for Sept. 5-7, while Mission San Fernando celebrates its 150th anniversary Sept. 14 with mass and an all-day barbecue in the Mission courtyard.

Horse racing can be enjoyed at Del Mar, near San Diego, until Sept. 20, every day but Sunday.
