Veterans May be Eligible for Top State Jobs

Veterans in the Torrance area who expect to complete college or university courses this June may be able to step right into junior professional positions with the state of California, Mr. G. Caldwell, director of the Veterans Service Center, reported yesterday. As veterans, Caldwell pointed out, they are entitled to 10 points preference on state civil service examinations. Those with a current service-connected disability rating of 10 per cent or higher are entitled to 15 points. The State Personnel Board has scheduled a series of examinations to be held on Saturdays during February and March in a total of 29 types of jobs. These include engi-

'No Answer' to Who Stole Two Pay-Telephones

List of weekend crimes included the theft of two pay telephones, according to the Torrance Police reports.

One of the "pay-as-you-talk" boxes was ripped from the wall in a booth at 3741 Pacific Coast Highway sometime Sunday morning. The other instrument was likewise pulled from the wall of a booth located on Calle De Atiles in the Hollywood Riviera section, also on Sunday morning, architecture, several professional and scientific categories, and various administrative fields.

Caldwell urged interested veterans to file without delay their applications for the 10 or 15-point preference. Application forms are available at the Veterans Service Center, 1339 Post avenue, Torrance.

Seventh Graders Win Contest

Catholic School of Nativity this week was honored by the presentation of two awards to seventh grade students.

Local winners in an essay contest on the subject, "Lincoln, the Emancipator," arranged for seventh and eighth grade students between the Nativity Parochial School, Torrance; Our Lady of Victory School, Compton; and St. Bernard's School, Bellflower; were Michael H. Housh, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Sylvia Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Reed, Torrance. These seventh grade students won first and third places respectively.

The contest was sponsored by Lincoln National Life Insurance Company of Compton. The presentation was made by a vice president of the company, who also served as a judge.

The insurance company has donated a plaque which will be installed in Nativity School early next month.
