MEAT LOAF VARIATIONS ADD SPARKLE TO MENUS

In the midst of festive or elaborate menu planning, a good hearty meat loaf can do much for the family's morale and eating satisfaction. Too. Most good cooks realize this but complain they hate to serve the "same old meat loaf" over and over again.

Just a few ingenious ideas can dress up your favorite loaf. For one change, bake the loaf in a mold pan, instead of the conventional loaf pan. Heart-shaped or ring molds, muffin molds, or other shapes may be used, in either the large or individual size—small molds bake more quickly. Be sure to grease the mold so the loaf turns out easily. If baked in a ring, creamed vegetables may be served in the center.

Simple designs from slices of hard-cooked eggs, pickles and other foods may be laid out in the bottom of the pan before the meat mixture is added and help make an upside-down loaf attractive. Or the loaf may be garnished afterwards if a more elaborate design is preferred.

Unusual ingredients added to your favorite loaf can give it entirely new character. For instance, add ground green pepper to ham loaf for a gay contrast in color, texture and flavor. Or add spicy condiments for a deviled loaf—prepared mustard, horseradish, catchup or chili sauce, or any other spicy ingredients you prefer.

Or you might mix the ingredients together, spread in the bottom of the pan before adding the meat mixture, and turn the loaf out with a deviled topping. Another interesting topping is a brown sugar glaze—a bit of brown sugar sprinkled in the bottom of the pan will turn out into a not-too-sweet caramel glaze.

The repeat showing of films on Sunday afternoons will start at 3 p.m., except the first one on July 10 which will begin at 1:30 p.m., so as not to conflict with the lecture on the current Leonardo da Vinci art exhibition at 3 p.m., to be given by Dr. Elmer Belt, Los Angeles surgeon and founder of the Elmer Belt Library of Vinciana.
