

MRS. EDWIN FRIBERG
Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of a "Hobby"

A FEATURE DEDICATED TO GOOD NEIGHBORING

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of "Meet your neighbor series." A short typewriter sketch of everyday Torrance folks. If you would like to have your story appear here, or if you know of an especially "good neighbor," phone the editor of the Torrance Herald—Torrance 444. The Herald makes no charge or obligates any person whose story appears in this column. No one is authorized to solicit funds to guarantee the appearance of a story in this column.

Meet your neighbor, Mrs. Edwin Friberg, of 1771 Santa Fe avenue, whose hobby, she says, is washing diapers.

Mrs. Friberg's routine follows pretty closely that of most other mothers of a six-week-old baby girl.

"You know," she says, "diapers, sterilizing bottles, diapers, mixing formulas, diapers, mid-night feedings, diapers, and... well, diapers, I guess. You know I had a dream one night about an American flag. It was the most unusual flag. In place of the usual stars there were diapers."

Between trips to the clothes line Mrs. Friberg seems to find time to care for Gloria's three-and-a-half-year-old brother, Eddie Junior, and to whip up a pan of Kansas farm-style fried chicken. Her fried chicken rates number one on her husband's "Bite Parade." Mr. Friberg is a service station attendant at Art Sullivan's Shell Service at Carson street and Cabrillo avenue.

The two children have more or less forced the Fribergs into a "stay at home" life. The children and TV, that is. Among her favorite programs are Milton Berle and Ted Mack's Amateur Hour and... of course, "Beany," a highly "must" for young Eddie.

She prefers comedy to dramas, modern movies to westerns, fried food to boiled food, modern music to long hair, and modern furniture to period style.

Helping round out the furnishings of their new home is a blond sewing machine which Mrs. Friberg won recently as a gift from Porter's Yardage Store.

"You should have seen us when we started moving into this house. It was Christmas eve. In came the stove, then a Christmas tree," recalls Mrs. Friberg.

She remembers two vivid experiences in her life, which occurred before she left her home in Mankato, Kansas. One was the time she was given a scholarship-citizenship award by her fellow students and faculty of her high school and the other event was the time she walked in the back door of the new boys' gym into the shower room. Asked if she played the piano in the house, she explained she never took lessons because she was always too busy tugging her father to let her drive the tractor.

Her pet gripe is door-to-door salesmen. Her desire is to spend a honeymoon vacation (something she has never had) at Catalina Island (a place she has never been).

And now if she could be excused, the washing machine was beckoning—diapers, you know!

Lura H. Davis Services Held

Services were conducted last Thursday at Piute Brothers Mortuary in Hollywood for Mrs. Lura H. Davis, 85, of 1522 Crenshaw boulevard, who died February 6. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Santa Monica.

Born in Springfield, Mo., she had been a resident of Torrance 28 years. Survivors include Will Davis of Santa Monica, and Mrs. Alberta K. Bouldin of Frazier Park.

CONSERVATION OBSERVED

Millions of full-color American wildlife conservation stamps, depicting birds, fish, mammals, trees and flowers, will be mailed into every state in the nation to commemorate the 13th annual observance of National Wildlife Restoration Week, March 19 to 25. The mailing campaign is conducted annually to finance educational activities of the National Wildlife Federation and its affiliated organizations throughout the country.
