'Courtesy' Night Noted By Amaranths

Courtesy Night was observed at the last regular meeting when stations were filled by visiting members of other courts. At the conclusion of the business meeting members and guests were invited to the banquet room where delicious refreshments of home-made apple pie, coffee and tea were served at tables decorated with garden flowers by the chairman of the evening, H. L. Emma Evans.

Regular officers of Redondo Court presented their guests with attractive individual gifts.

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Bello have been entertaining as their house guest for the past month his brother, Victor Bello of Manila, P. I. The visitor left Sunday to resume his duties as manager of the American Insurance Company at Manila.

HOW SOME MEN SUCCEED

By J. Hugh Sherrey, Jr.

A man was remodeling his home, adding an extra room. Wind was raw and cold. Two fathers came Friday morning, they worked feverishly to complete their work by 5 P.M. They didn't. The wife visioned Saturday and Sunday with cold wind whistling through her home. The two men kept on. 6 P.M. came. Those two men were working doggedly to make the room wind-tight. 6:30 P.M., the openings were covered with building paper, the job was done.

Monday morning those two men were asked to bid on a very large Apartment building. Friday night they were awarded the job with this remark: "You worked an hour and a half to keep us from being uncomfortable for two days. Two men who are that loyal to their job, who are that thoughtful of others are the kind of men we want to work for us."

We have but two eyes but there are thousands of eyes watching us. Thoughtfulness may go unrewarded, temporarily, but it is the man who thinks of others who will be thought of when he least expects it. To succeed more, give more.
