Parks Overflow with Dolls At Doll Parade Festivities

Torrance's doll set turned out in force last Friday at the local playgrounds and cut down the city's supply of ribbons to a mere handful. More than 500 dolls were entered in the various doll parades, according to recreation officials.

Fifty participants entered more than 200 dolls at Torrance Park alone. One of the more outstanding collections was exhibited by Marilyn Specht of Perry play-

Junior Teeners Attend Season's Final Hoe-down

Seaside Ranchos' Junior Teenage club closed its current dancing sessions at the Seaside school last week when 50 young dancers—fifth graders through eighth graders—turned out for the PTA-sponsored affair.

Square dancing to the calling of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cosby, the younger set danced until stopped for a surprise proffering of cookies, candies and soft drinks "oh the house."

Mrs. Ralph Owens, recreation chairman of the Seaside PTA, said the children usually had to purchase refreshments at the get-togethers, and all were happy at receiving their pop and cookies free.

Co-hosts at the final event of the season were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hole, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Owens. The popular dances will be resumed Friday evening, Sept. 22, Mrs. Owens said yesterday.

Playgrounds Schedule Flower, Rock Studies

Programs are scheduled tomorrow on all seven city playgrounds dealing with the study of nature. Flower, rock, and leaf studies will be made, and birds, ants, and other forms of wild life will be discussed.

Checkers and carroms contests are also slated at each playcenter tomorrow. Tournaments will be held in the Pee Wee, Midget, Junior, and Senior divisions.

ANCIENT AND MODERN . . . The two smiling cuties at the left are as modern as today—the little dolls they are displaying are not quite so modern. In fact, the one displayed in the box by Diana Wallace is 82 years old. The other, held on the lap of Sibje Ousler, is an even century old. Above, the entrants at Torrance Park line up before checking through the judging area where ribbons were awarded to the outstanding entries. (Herald photo).
