

Plans for October Fair Outlined by Seaside PTA

By MRS. G. H. MILLER

Officers and committee chairmen of the Seaside PTA met Wednesday, Aug. 16, to discuss the coming year's activities. Jack Satterlee, ways and means chairman, outlined plans for the Fair which will be held on the school grounds on October 7.

Actually the Fair will begin on Friday evening, October 6, when a costume dance under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Jim Hall will be held at the school. William Beckman is planning a floor show for this affair with Mrs. R. C. Dorsett in the food department. A good orchestra will provide music for dancing from 9 to 12. Tickets for the dance and tickets for the dinner the following evening are being placed in the hands of neighborhood salesmen by ticket chairman, Mickey Stewart, and should be available soon, as only a limited number of tickets for advance sale are being printed.

On Saturday morning a children's parade will make its way to the school, where suitable awards will be made for pets, costumes and decorated vehicles by a committee headed by Mrs. William Schmitz.

Robert Matson and his committee will be on hand at the school Saturday morning to serve breakfast.

Speaking of food, a new booth called "Food Specialties" will be seen at the Fair this year. Those in the community who have an unusual recipe will provide samples of the food and sell copies of directions for making the dish. Remember those wonderful tacos Mrs. Matute served at her booth last year? Here's a chance for you to learn how to make them. Anyone having a special food secret, and who would be willing to share it—may call Mrs. Francis Bowman, Frontier 5-3919.

Mrs. Reg Roberts, Frontier 5-3835, wishes to hear from cake-bakers who would like to assist the PTA by lending a hand in making cakes. The "cake walk" will be conducted by C. A. "Bud" Mewborn.

"Pat" Patronsky will run a general store in the kindergarten building where he will sell anything from a pin to an automobile.

There are a dozen other new and unusual angles to this year's Fair being planned, but space will not permit further description now. It sounds like an unusual and exciting Fair.

Mrs. Loren Edman, program chairman, announced that the first program of the year will be a family pot-luck on September 14. A fine color movie produced by a large travel agency will be shown, with musical selections by Los Caneleros and community singing for all. Check this date on your calendar now.

"Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," starring Gertrude Niesen, opens August 28 at the Greek Theatre, Los Angeles, where it will be seen for the first time since it became the toast of Broadway 10 months ago, and is still playing there to turnaway business. Largest and most successful musical comedy of many seasons, it has been heralded as the theatre event of the year.

As the millions who read Anita Loos' novel know, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" is the hilarious story of Lorelei Lee, a wide-eyed blonde from Little Rock, fugitive from the Polles, who is sent abroad that she may improve her mind, acquire a smidgen of culture, spruce up her vocabulary through contact with the haute monde. Miss Loos collaborated with Joseph Fields for the adaptation of her novel to a musical comedy. Julia Styne wrote the music, Leo Robin the lyrics, and Agnes deMille the original dances and musical ensembles.

Mail order purchasers of tickets for "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" should send in requests for alternate dates due to sell-outs of many performances. Special Sunday night performances have been added on September 3 and 10.

In case the wind was blowing your way Wednesday, that was a skunk, neighbor. Down at 23011 Doris Way, prior to the departure of Mrs. Jo Danielson of Delano, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Knouse, Fred and Virginia went to the garage to get her trunk. There, militantly standing guard over it in his shiny black and white uniform, was the odiferous little pussy cat. Train time came nearer and the little kitty was laid to rest. Mrs. Danielson made her train, all right, but little Beany, the Knouses' dog, here of the affair, is spending the week outside.

The Seaside Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association executive board met Wednesday, August 16, with Mrs. Nellie Hoie, president, presiding. General plans for the fall carnival were discussed. This will help placement and speed transfer from the former school.
