

Parade, Carnival to Highlight Kids' Day Celebration

Kiwanians Sponsoring Annual Fete

Oodles and gobs of fun is promised for Saturday when Torrance celebrates National Kids' Day, sponsored each year by the Kiwanis Clubs of America.

To start off with, Cowboy Andy Alexander and his beautiful horse will lead a "Kids World" parade which leaves Cravens and Post avenues at 11 a.m. Those who will enter the parade have been asked to be at the corner near the library by 10:30 a.m.

Four individual groupings will be in the parade besides floats, marching units, and other attractions. The individual groups

—all for kids—include a Hopy group, a pet parade, a bicycle section, and a costume section. Any kid can enter one of these sections by showing up at the starting corner by 10:30 Saturday.

BANDS TO PLAY

Other units of the parade will include the High School band, the El Camino band, floats, and marching units of local organizations.

The parade will start at Post and Cravens at 11 a.m. and go up Post to Sartori, down Sartori to Cabrillo, thence to Carson street, and west on Carson to Marina avenue, where it will turn into the carnival area on the High School campus.

Highlight of the parade might well be the local collection of clowns and a Kiwanis "pep band," according to Kids' Day Chairman Jerry Eastham.

CARNIVAL SET

In the carnival area on the west end of the football stadium, Kids' Day revelers will find an expansive outlay of carnival games and rides.

Prizes for parade winners include trophies, ribbons, and merchandise contributed by local merchants.

Merchants donating prizes include McCown Drugs, Torrance Cycle and Fix-it Shop, Star Furniture, Payless Drugs, National Home Appliance, Newberys, Roberts Liquor, Almonds Department Store, Rogers Liquor Store, Kar's Shoe Store, Safety Stores, Parson Stationers, Scotty's Sport Shop, Torrance Variety, Gary's Jewelry, Kiddie Lane Shop, A-1 Photo Service, McMahan's Furniture, Levy's Department Store, and the Tiny Tyke Shop.

Included in the prizes are such things as a baseball bat, a case of assorted soda pops, an Ex-acto carving kit, Baby Brownie camera, a zipper wallet and other valuable articles.

Topping off the entire celebration will be three performances by the Strong Dog and Pony Show. Show times are 2, 4, and 8 p.m.

Technicalities To Keep Harbor Plan Off Ballot

Lack of the proper number of freeholders' signatures on a petition resulted in a negative vote by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday on the City of Redondo Beach's plan to place the question of forming a Harbor Improvement District on the ballot for the November 7 election.

Supervisor Raymond V. Darby revealed that while an economic study by the county manager's office had recommended on the feasibility of such a harbor, the measure could not be put on the ballot because many technicalities had not been ironed out.

COUNTY WIDE

Under the proposed plan the entire Los Angeles County would become coterminous with the Harbor Improvement District and the cost of the project would be borne by residents of this county.

The proposal follows the recommendation of County Manager Wayne Allen, who has surveyed possibilities of the proposed improvement for which the Federal government expenditure would be $3,475,000 to be matched by $2,245,045 in local funds, under Allen's plan.

POSSIBLE REVENUE

Allen's survey sets forth the possible revenue from a 1552 boat harbor, parking areas and a fishing pier for commercial craft as sufficient to retire the bonds without property assessments.

Officials here say the possibility that the proposal be included in the Nov. 7 ballot is being considered.

Vaudeville Billed For Police Show

Ten (count 'em), ten great acts of vaudeville will be brought to Torrance Saturday evening, Sept. 30, for the 13th Annual Police Show in the High School auditorium, Police Chief John Stroth announced this week.

Headlined by that well-known emcee, George Riley, the "Big Show" will open its one-night stand here at 7 p.m. on Sept. 30 and will give a repeat performance beginning at 9:30 p.m.

Included in the show, sponsored by the Torrance Police Officers Association, will be the acrobatic dancing of Betty Yeaton, a surprise routine by Hector and his pals, and singing by

Dark Days Ahead

Daylight Time Goes Off This Sunday, 2 a.m.

For most Torrance residents the switch from Daylight Saving time to Pacific Standard Time is a day too early.

At 2 a.m. Sunday morning those who want to do the job of turning back the clock all legal and proper like, will stay up to twirl the hands of their clocks back to 1 a.m. This will give them an extra hour of sleep Sunday morning—not counting what sleep was lost while staying up to turn back the clocks.

Most of us who work for a living and have to get up on Monday morning, feel that the extra hour would be more appreciated if the switch back was set for Monday morning since most slumber-loving persons sleep in on Sunday morning anyway.

For those who are celebrating Saturday night and who always want "just one more" after the "last call" the opportunity will have come. William G. Bonell, fourth District member of the State Board of Equalization, is fulfilling his promise to tavern owners by giving back the hour that was taken away last April.

When the hands hit 2 a.m., normal closing time for grog-dispensing taverns, the owners may turn the hands to 1 a.m. and remain until 2 a.m., Pacific Standard Time.

According to some unsung mathematical genius, who has more time for such things than we, some 10,000,000 Californians, have enjoyed 1,470,000 more hours of sunshine since Daylight Saving Time went into effect April 29. This will all end, however this Sunday morning. It will be lighter when you get up and darker when you go to bed.

Beating Disproved By Inquest

Refuting charges that Boyce George Hackney had been brutally beaten before hanging himself in the Torrance jail last week, a coroner's inquest found that he had died of "asphyxiation by strangulation." It was learned late yesterday.

An autopsy ordered by the Torrance Police Department failed to show any "marked signs of violence," a member of the County Coroner's staff told the Herald yesterday.

The autopsy was ordered along with the inquest into the death of Hackney when police were accused of beating him, according to Police Chief John Stroth.

Following his arrest near his home at 24256½ Hawthorne boulevard last Wednesday evening, Hackney told Torrance police officers that he was going to hang himself.

Desk Officer H. G. Trezise foiled Hackney's first try when he caught him making a noose out of bedding in the jail cell. Trezise removed loose bedding and articles of the man's clothing which could be used in his vow to kill himself.

Seven minutes later, the officer found Hackney hanging by a chain taken from a fold-up bunk, his feet barely off the floor.

Despite efforts of Engineer W. R. West and R. E. Moffitt of the Torrance Fire Department to resuscitate him, the victim was pronounced dead by Dr. Phillip M. Halloran, 24 minutes after being found.

Funeral services for the deceased were held Monday at Motte's Mortuary in Long Beach. Burial was at Westminster Memorial Park.

BOOSTER ROOSTERS . . . Comes now "B-Day." Marvin Goetsch of the Torrance Junior Chamber of Commerce and John Ott of the Torrance Lions Club (with the help of photographer Lee Weinstein) pose with a big roll of tickets to direct attention to "B-Day" this Friday. Proclaimed "Booster Day" by the Mayor, the two organizations have combined efforts to boost community interest in the Torrance High School Football Team. The prep squad meets Glendale Hoover in the season opener this Friday night at the local high school. Advance tickets may be obtained from any Lion or Jaycee member for 80 cents for adults, 25 cents for children. (Herald photo).

Prop. No. 1 Threatens Schools

Plundering of Torrance schools, including the stoppage of school buses, elimination of some teachers, and the cancellation of school supplies will take place behind a propaganda smoke screen favoring passage of Proposition No. 1 unless voters act to avert the threat, Superintendent of Schools Dr. J. Henrich Hull said Tuesday night.

BOARD WARNED

Dr. Hull warned the Board of Education at Tuesday's regular meeting they must prepare to pass a quarter of a million dollars from this year's school budget if Proposition No. 1 passes on the November 7 ballot.

He pointed out also that the City of Torrance will lose $120,000 from funds allotted for operating the city this year.

Proposition No. 1 would exempt all personal property from taxation. To the homeowner this would only amount to a few dollars which is paid in taxes on refrigerators, money in the bank, diamond rings, and other personal property. To large companies many of whom do not own their buildings or the land on which they are located, it would mean savings running into the millions.

HEAVY LOSS

In Torrance $13,705,000 in taxable personal property would be lopped off the tax rolls, Dr. Hull reported. John R. Quinn, the county tax assessor, said.

After hearing Hull's report, the Board directed him to survey the budget to determine where, if necessary, the $250,000 could be sliced from this year's budget.

REPORTS TO BOARD

Hull's report to the board follows:

"According to information received by telephone from Mr. Quinn, County Assessor, $13,705,200.00 worth of personal property will be eliminated from the tax roll in Torrance by passage of Proposition No. 1. This would amount to nearly a quarter of a million dollars being sliced off of Torrance's School Budget. In order to slice off this amount of money from the proposed Budget for 1950-51, it would be necessary to eliminate such things as the community services, all capital outlay, all transportation of pupils, and cancellation of orders for supplies which have not been received.

"This is just a rough estimate. We could not employ any more teachers and it would probably mean that many of our classes would get up as high as 50 or 60 pupils before the year is over. Cutting $250,000 off the Torrance School Budget would be serious by handicap the program as to require perhaps even the elimination of some teaching personnel due to lack of funds. Mr. Quinn's figures indicate that 29 per cent of Torrance's assessed valuation is personal property tax.

"MORE TAXES NEEDED
"With these things in mind, it would be advisable to consider a special tax election for next year in the event Proposition No. 1 passes. In order to maintain (Continued on Page 2)

Pre-Cast Concrete Schools Studied

Views of pre-cast concrete schools were shown members of the Torrance Board of Education Tuesday night by Frederic Barienbrock, designer of the new type school houses.

Substantial savings in original cost, fire insurance, heating and other items of maintenance can be effected by using the modern structures, Barienbrock said.

Season Grid Tickets Under Study at THS

A plan to provide season tickets for three of Torrance High School's three league home games is under study by the Student Council.

The Board of Education Tuesday night authorized the issuance of the tickets. A section of seats equal to the number of season tickets sold would be reserved until half time.

Band to Play at Fair

Members of the Torrance Area Youth Band will play a noon concert in the Radio-Television building at the County Fair in Pomona Sunday, according to the director, James Van Dyck.

The bandmen and members of the baton corps will leave the Civic Auditorium here at 9 a.m. Sunday and will return at 9 p.m. The trip is being made by bus, with meals and transportation furnished by the Fair Association.
