Home Nursing Classes Urged By Civil Defense Authorities

"Every home in Los Angeles and vicinity should have framed on the wall a Red Cross home nursing certificate."

Grant V. Jenkins, civil defense coordinator of Los Angeles, so declared this week as he urged housewives to "immediately cooperate in the civil defense program by enrolling in American Red Cross home nursing courses — particularly the class dealing with the care of the sick and injured at home."

"Our office has received many calls from housewives eager to do their part in the civil defense preparedness projects, and my first recommendation is enrollment in a Red Cross home nursing class," Jenkins said.

"The Red Cross classes are open to the public without charge, and the training offered in them ranks high among the preparedness outlined by the National Security Resources Board."

Classes in "Care of the Sick and Injured at Home" have been assigned starting dates in mid-December, with others scheduled to get under way following the Christmas-New Year holidays

Nurses Group Lauds Chest Campaign

Registered nurses of San Pedro and the Harbor Area today called on all citizens of the area to give generously to the Community Chest campaign now in progress "in the American tradition of self-help."

Action of the nurses was announced by Mrs. Margaret Feuille, president of the San Pedro Nurses Association, who said it followed adoption of a resolution at the recent annual convention of the California State Nurses Association in Los Angeles, endorsing Community Chest campaigns all over the state.

"Nurses are in a position to know the need for and the value of the work which the numerous social and health agencies supported by the Community Chest accomplish in lightening the burdens of the aged, ill and afflicted and promoting the well-being of all those whom the agencies serve," said Mrs. Feuille.
