El Camino basketball forces began a six-game invasion of the San Francisco Bay Area Tuesday with a game at Grant Tech.

Coach Doug Essick, who took over the team when Johnny Morrow went off to train with the Navy, will be gone with the hoopsters for eight days.

Besides Grant Tech, they will play Sacramento, Vallejo, San Mateo, San Francisco and Marin Colleges. They will return next Wednesday.

Warriors Down Trojan Frosh

Missing a free throw in the last 10 seconds of the game, the University of Southern California frosh quintet went home with the short end of a 63-64 casaba contest with El Camino last week.

Willy Shea and Bob Chambers paced the winners with a total of 27 points while Hank D'Antonio potted 18 for the SC frosh.

Kids to Play In Vacation Tournament

Plans for a three division, round robin basketball tournament for the kids during the Christmas holidays are receiving the final once-over this week, and play will get under way next Monday in the High School gym.

Kids in the sixth grade and below will compete in one tournament, those in the seventh and eighth grade in another, and those not on the high school Cee and Dee squads in a third tournament.

The gymnasium will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day next week, Monday through Saturday. During the week following Christmas, the gym will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Coach Rex Welch will be on hand to supervise the activities during the vacation.

Three Warriors Make All-Metropolitan Squad

It was thought for awhile that the football season was over, but here comes the Metropolitan Conference with its All-Conference selections.

Don Miller, Larry Olen and Dick Donges. That's the contribution of El Camino to the all-conference eleven.

Don Jurk, Dick Wright and Paul Held received honorable mention in the selections.

Tartars Enter Long Beach Casaba Tourney

As the Herald went to press last night, the Torrance Varsity was meeting Ventura High School in the first game of an elimination basketball tournament being played at the Long Beach Jordan high school.

Outcome of the Tartars first game was not received in time to be included in this week's issue, but it can be reported that the Tartars will play at least two games.

If they won last night, they will play the winner of the San Bernardino-Long Beach Wilson game at 3:15 p.m. today. If they lost, they will play the loser of the same match for the consolation playoff out the back of the bracket.

Other teams in the tourney include Compton, Chaffey, St. Anthony, Long Beach Jordan, Notre Dame, Moorpark, Excelsior, Montebello, Redondo, and Long Beach Poly, which is hosting the get-together.

"We're going into this tournament to win," Coach Cliff Graybehl said Tuesday.

The tournament will end the casaba activities for the high school until after the Christmas vacation when the boys come back to tackle Narbonne, pride of the Marine League.

Don Miller, Larry Olen and Dick Donges. That's the contribution of El Camino to the all-conference eleven.

TORRANCE HERALD Sports

UP AND IN FOR TWO . . . All-Bay Casaba and grid star Aramis Dandoy is shown here on the way up with the ball for two points in the game last Friday with Glendale Hoover. He didn't do it nearly often enough, however, and Glendale won the game 51 to 31. Shown also are Bill Baron (No. 13) and Jim Taylor (No. 24). (Herald photo).

BACK IN ACTION . . . A very active member of the Torrance High basketball varsity this fall is Jim Taylor, who last year spent several months in the hospital with a broken neck following a car crash. The crash ended his football career, but he's back in the harness again with the casaba.

Coach Overhauls Tartar Varsity

Unless a lot of schools operating under the Bay League suddenly turn up with epidemics of not too minor proportions, the outlook for the Torrance Tartars is indeed a dismal one.

At least that is the preview of the future one gets by looking back over the Tartar season so far this fall.

Shaking his head like a well-paid mourner at a gambler's funeral, Coach Cliff Graybehl this week took that look back, saw his Tartars on the short end of every game they've played so far this season, then resolutely refused to look into the future.

"Gotta make some changes, boy," was his sage comment.

And he started right in the middle of the game with Glendale Hoover last Friday evening.

His first move was to shift Aramis Dandoy from forward to the guard slot in an effort to get the ball worked in a little more. An All-Bay basketball star for Torrance last year, Dandoy showed some of his stuff against Glendale by sinking eight of 11 free tosses and potting three from the floor for a total of 14 points.

SHARP EYES

Big Bill Baron, who started the game at center, tossed in three from the floor before fouling out in the fourth quarter. He was moved to forward where his sharp eye may add up some in the scoring column.

Speaking of sharp eyes, the small change basketball artists around high school are currently the kings of the campus. The Dees, who in size, weight, age and athletic importance take a rumble seat behind the varsity, bees and cees, have gone through their first three encounters without a scratch.

DEES HOT

First to feel their might (or should it be mitel) were the Westchester Dees who, on Dec. 1 bowed to them 11 to 15. On Dec. 5 the St. Anthony Dees stumbled and fell to the tune of a 12-23 defeat, and last Friday the local Dees measured Bell Gardens to the tune of 28 to 19. They were to meet Mt. Carmel last Tuesday (score below).

The Cees have dropped one to St. Anthony while taking the other two.

BEES WIN ONE

The Bees won from St. Anthony 46 to 29, while dropping games to Huntington Beach and Glendale Hoover.

The Varsity has gone right down the line (emphasis is on the down), Huntington Beach, St. Anthony and Glendale Hoover. And the locker room hopes for a win over Mt. Carmel, pride of the Catholic League, were

Former Tartar Coach Now Playing Quarterback On Air Force Eleven

When the football team representing one U. S. Air Force base in Japan takes the field, it looks like old home week in Torrance.

Quarterbacking the Air Force eleven is Capt. Eddie Cole, varsity coach of the Tartars last year. Alternating in the guard spots are Cpl. Frank Costa, Sgt. Onal Harris and Pfc. Jim Gates.

All played ball here under Coach (now Captain) Cole.

All are members of the 452nd Bombardment Wing (Light), which was the first Air Force Reserve unit to get into combat. The unit was recalled to active duty August 10 and has been overseas since the end of October.

Before Cole and his former Tartars showed up, the base
