Pioneer Rolling Hills Branding Irons Uncovered

Two old branding irons carrying the historic "Flying Triangle" brand of the late Jotham Bixby, famous Southern California pioneer, have been uncovered and turned over to the Palos Verdes Corporation.

The brands, used on cattle and horses which ranged Rancho Palos Verdes and other Bixby holdings from 1882 to 1912, were found by Les Phillips of Lomita, son of Bixby's ranch foreman during the period when the Palos Verdes peninsula grazed as many as 25,000 head of cattle annually.

Phillips located the two brands, a small one for horses and a larger one for beef cattle, when he was going through an accumulation of family heirlooms. The Flying Triangle brands, although slightly rusty, still are usable.

Fathers on Tap For PTA Program

It will be "father's night out" on Tuesday, February 13.

Instead of being out on the town, however, fathers are going to be out on the stage in the Torrance High School's library to entertain the meeting of the High School PTA.

High on the list of entertainers arranged by the father members of the PTA will be a performance by the newly formed Barbershop Chorus, under the direction of C. W. "Bud" Bartholomew. The group includes two or three quartets which will sing some of the favorite songs of yesterday in the Fathers' Day Program.

Also slated for parts in the program is a group of men from the North Torrance Civic Improvement Association.

CERAMICS CLASS TO OPEN

San Pedro Evening Adult School will open a ceramics class Friday, February 2, from 8:30 to 9:30, with Lance MacDonald as instructor.

Theater Bandit Eludes Pursuit

Deputies today were looking for a sporty clad youth who thrust a tiny toy pistol at a pretty Lomita Theatre cashier Friday night, then escaped with $15 as the manager took up pursuit.

The blonde cashier, Sue Russell, 2164 Torrance boulevard, Torrance, said the small bandit acted as though he had forgotten something when he stepped up to the ticket window to announce the holdup.

"Okeh, lady, I just want the money, no tricks. I got a buddy waiting in the car."

Miss Russell handed him all the ready cash. As he grabbed it and started to run, she shouted for the manager Fred Chancia, who chased the bandit but lost him as he turned west on 212nd street.

In his haste, the nervous suspect missed about $150 more which was in the ticket booth at the time of the 9:10 p.m. holdup, Chancia said.

Students Hear All-Girl Choir From Redlands

Swinging and singing their way through an annual spring tour, the 40-girl choir of the University of Redlands stopped at Torrance High School to entertain the students Tuesday of this week.

Under the direction of Professor Charles E. Fisher, the glee club presented a program, secular in nature which has been received quite favorably with the local high schools and other institutions on the musical group's itinerary.

Featured on Tuesday's program was a quartette composed of Nancy Young, Doris Worsham, Elizabeth Turk and Marilyn Gould.

The group has two different programs among its repertoire. One for church groups and the other for high schools audiences. The choir will be heard in 18 concerts in 10 cities.

TRAGIC RECORD

A new Unknown Soldier—"GI X"—will soon fall on a Korean battlefield as the millionth soldier to die in all wars in U. S. history, should hostilities continue there with heavy losses, according to the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies.

NORTH TORRANCE TATTLER

Peggy Sale, ways and means chairman of PTA, was elected at the outcome of the paper drive this week. The children worked like troopers adding $39.75 to the treasury. Mrs. McKelvy's sixth graders won the prize for the upper grades and Olive Marshall's second graders for the lower grades in collecting the most paper. Prizes are yet to be announced.

At last we shall have lights! Mike Hardin, chairman of the lights committee, tells me that the standards are here and within a very short time will be installed. In the "hats off" department is my privilege to mention these civic-minded people who formed a committee and worked diligently on this project: Mike Hardin, chairman, 17019 Crenshaw boulevard; Henry Smith, 3157 W. 170th street; Bob Jackson, 17032 Della street; Carol Sidley, 3169 W. 170th street; Sara Robinson, 17220 Elgar avenue; Clarence DeCamp, 17003 Falda avenue; W. G. Montgomery, 17203 Falda avenue; Mr. Alex Bates, 17039 Glenburn avenue; Fred Wildenuth, 17204 Falda avenue; Loren Mack, 17102 Glenburn avenue and Tom Stobbie, 17025 Crenshaw boulevard. Congratulations for a job well done!

The Community Church Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Peggy Sale, 17208 Ardath avenue, on February 6. All ladies are urged to attend. Plans are well under way for the church bazaar to be held at McMaster Hall February 10. A potluck luncheon precedes the sale with coffee and cake furnished by the ladies. Proceeds derived from the bazaar will be given to the church building fund. If it's hand work you want, here's the place to find it; McMaster Hall, Saturday February 10.

Hi Ho Silver! The battle of the range is on again. The Community Church Sunday school is sponsoring a Rustler and Hustler contest with the Rustlers riding herd over the Hustlers riding herd over the Points are being given for attendance, new membership, etc. Come to Sunday school, bring your neighbor. Let's lasso this situation and put on the feed bag at the expense of the loser.

Congratulations to Jerry Downing, 17039 Glenburn avenue, upon being selected vice president of the senior class of Torrance High.

On Sunday of this week, two-year-old Jimmie Allison, 17028 Glenburn avenue, decided to sample nicotine spray intended for the roses. After a very unpleasant experience at Harbor General Hospital, Jimmie returned home a sadder, but wiser little boy. No doubt the roses will never miss the spray, but this reporter's hair is just a little grayer.

Darrell Bronson, 17229 Atkinson avenue, celebrated his sixth birthday in a truly western fashion. Saturday the 27th a group of sixteen friends in western regalia cut the birthday cake decorated with Hoppy. Many gifts were of western nature. Each child wore a cowboy party hat—and partner, the fun was on!

Nine small boys and girls gathered around the birthday cake at the home of little David Sherwood, 17204 Ardath avenue, to celebrate his fourth birthday. Amid party favors and balloons a gala time was had.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Andree and sons of Island Lake, Minnesota are the guests of Mrs. Winona Muck, 17202 Falda avenue. Mrs. Andree served with Mrs. Muck in the Army Ordnance for three years during the last war. Mr. Andree is a former chief of the Navy.

Mrs. Sigurd Arnesen, 17203 Ardath avenue, who recently underwent a very serious operation, is now at home and recuperating nicely. Mr. Arnesen is a chief in the Navy now serving in Korea. Our best wishes are for Mrs. Arnesen.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brewer, 17032 Glenburn avenue, have entertained Mr. Knox Brewer, Henry's brother from Eugene, Oregon and son Kenny, together with Knox celebrated somewhat of a reunion with Woodrow and Dorothy Brewer in Oceanside. Woodrow, the younger brother, is a marine at Camp Pendleton.

Don't forget your monthly meeting of the North Torrance Civic Improvement Association, February 7. Burt Johnson, president, plans to have Vincent Thomas as guest speaker. An interesting evening is in the making.

Trout are now being planted in remote lakes by helicopter.

Combined Orchestra Planned at El Camino

Formation of a combined college-community orchestra was announced this week by El Camino College. The musical group, open to all instrumentalists with experience in bands or orchestras, will practice Wednesday nights from 6 to 10 p.m., beginning February 7.

Organized as a part of the college's spring semester course offerings, the orchestral meetings will give two units of college credit.

Public performances of the group are scheduled for April 12, 13, and 14 and for late in May.

"Emphasis will be placed on the covering of a wide variety of music, providing valuable training for young musicians and an opportunity for musicians out of school to keep on their instruments," said Hamilton Madasford, music instructor.
