Tartar thincads took either a third or fourth place in each of the nine events entered in the Inglewood Relays last week as the tracksters were getting keyed-up for the Bay League preliminaries which begin at El Camino this afternoon.

Grabbing off third place team ribbons were the Varsity high jump team, and the Cee broad jump, 4-man mile, and 4-man 880 teams.

Fourth place honors went to the Varsity 4-man mile team, the Bee shot put team, and the Cee 440, shot put, and pole vault teams.

Probably the closest Tartar teams came to getting a first place in the meet was in the Cee 4-man 880 run-off last Friday night. Speedy Bob Brown, anchoring the four-man team, picked up 15 yards on the Redondo and Santa Monica men ahead of him in the last leg of the race—but he couldn't get through them to break the tape.

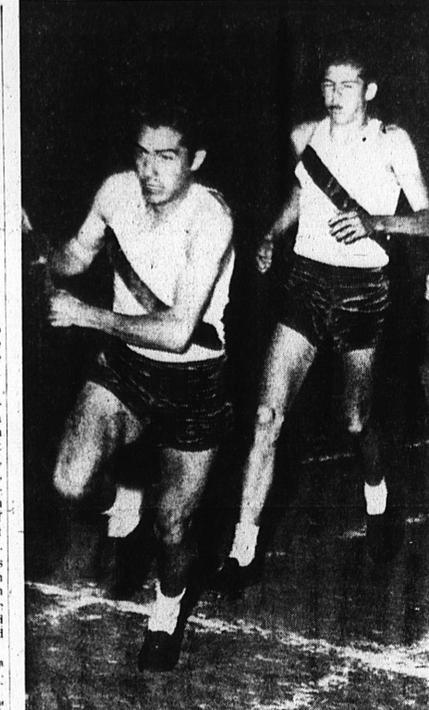

In meet scoring, the Tartars wound up in a two-way tie with Beverly Hills for the fourth place. Santa Monica won the meet handily with Inglewood and Redondo taking the second and third spots.

Anglers Ready Gear for 1951 Trout Season

Anglers in every part of the Southland are now busy giving reels, rods, line, leaders, favorite lures, and other gear close inspections in preparation for the opening of the 1951 fishing season at Crowley Lake on Saturday, April 28, according to reports being received by the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department.

All signs indicate that this year's opening will be the greatest in the history of the huge man-made High Sierra reservoir, exceeding even last year, when more than 4000 anglers and 1500 boats were afloat to make it appear that the world's navies were concentrated at the famed "home of the big trout."

The available supply of city-owned inboard motorboats and rowboats for Crowley's opening weekend, April 28-29, was of course, long ago snapped up by sportsmen and sportswomen anxious to start the 1951 angling season right by reeling in a few of the lake's fighting Loch Leven, Rainbow, and Spotted Black Tahoes.

A few boat reservations are still available for weekdays of the first two weeks of the season and the weekend of May 5-6. Reservations may be made by mail or telephone at the office of the Recreation and Park Department, Room 225, L. A. City Hall, Michigan 8211, and Station 552.

El Camino's defending Metropolitan Conference baseball champs are currently riding the third rung of the league ladder after splitting two games last week. On Friday the Warriors were toppled by Long Beach 4-1, but Saturday Santa Monica hit the dust 5-2. Both games were played on the Alondra base paths.

With three games remaining the locals will put up a last ditch stand against East Los Angeles tomorrow and against San Diego and Valley the following week in an attempt to retain the circuit crown.

Camou pitching ace Don Young twirled his third conference win in a row Saturday, throwing a four-hitter at the beach boys while Bob Chambers, Johnny Mitchell, Garry Van Vliet, Wayne Bird and Dutch Jones led the Warrior hit parade.

Young held the Corsair's Larry French, one of the hottest hitters in the Metro, to one blow. French was the player who almost single handedly won the game for the visitors the first time around.

Long Beach pitted Al Johnson against Doug Essick's Forest Maier in the Friday game and it was one of the shorter pitching duels of the campaign; Maier retired after one inning with a sore arm. Tony Raia came in to chuck seven hit ball, but the Warriors could get only four blows off Johnson. Raia, Dutch Jones, Bob Chambers and Wayne Bird, solving Johnson's slants.

Umpire Changes Mind, May Cost Tartars a Win

Torrance's 1-0 defeat of Beverly Hills last April 5 may have come out of the record books and the game replayed from the sixth inning school authorities were informed by Bay League officials last week.

A rhubarb over who won the game developed several hours after the Tartars had returned home from Beverly Hills when the umpire who called the game decided that he may have called a balk on the Beverly pitcher when he actually no balk occurred.

Beverly Hills entered a protest at the next league meeting after the umpire had notified officials late the night after the game that he may have called the play wrong. The balk allowed Torrance to score the game's only run.

The rhubarb arose when Bob Hoyt, Norman pitcher, dropped the ball as he was stepping into the pitcher's box. All the rule books printed amateur, semi-pro, and professional list this as a balk and PCL, Czar "Pants" Rowland told Torrance officials that there would be no question about the balk, but the Bay League turned a deaf ear to the Torrance defense and railroaded a vote in favor of Beverly Hills' umpire.

The protest could take to the CIF, but Vice-principal C. E. Wallace said yesterday that he didn't know whether the school would submit the case to the CIF.

Annual Model Boat Regatta Set For Sunday Morning at Alondra

Avast there, you windjammers! Make fast the mizzenmast—hoist the foreroyal yard, and rig the flying jib. A full-fledged yacht regatta will be held at Lake Alondra beginning at 9:30 next Sunday morning.

Largest of the entrants will be an International "A" and an "X" model boat (limited to 1000 square inches of sail).

That's right—they will all be models. Cosponsored by the Los Angeles Model Yacht Club and the Los Angeles County Department of Parks and Recreation, the annual regatta is, coming to be one of Alondra's most popular events.

Parrot Fever Reported in L.A. County

A peculiar malady called psittacosis (parrot fever) has once again made its appearance in Los Angeles County. It is a matter of concern to public health officials because the disease is highly contagious with a mortality rate of more than 20 percent. It was somewhat facetiously called "old maid's fever" back in the early 1930's—older women kept birds more often than other individuals and were therefore frequently exposed to infection—but parrot fever is not limited to any age, sex, or occupation. Anyone may get the disease when exposed to it but deaths usually occur only in the older age group. Practically no fatalities were recorded in persons under 30 years of age during the outbreak in the United States some 20 years ago but, in the age group over 50, the death rate was high.

Parrots are not the only birds who are the carriers of this disease. Any psittacine bird, (parrots, parakeets, Mexican double headed, macaws, lorikeets, canaries, love birds, pigeons, amazons, or other members of the psittacine family) may transmit it and healthy birds may be carriers. They need not be ill in order to pass the infection to others of their kind, or to human beings.

Because of a similarity in symptoms, parrot fever is often confused with typhoid fever or influenza. According to a medical expert, "one should be suspicious of peculiar types of illness where the patient has been associated with any birds, sick or well, whether of the immediate psittacine family or not."

There is no specific treatment for psittacosis and no serum that will prevent it. Early care by a physician is strongly recommended as it will relieve suffering and prevent complications. The best procedure of all however is control of the infection through the elimination of the birds that carry the disease virus.

TRAILER OWNERS NOTE

Vacationing motorists who take the highways with trailers were reminded today by the California Highway Patrol that they may not legally drive faster than 5 miles an hour. The trailers must also be equipped with tail lights if driven during the hours of darkness, the patrol declared.

Ex-Gauchos Set New Harbor JC Vaulting Mark

A pair of ex-Gauchos, Bill Meng and Greg Biller, established a new Harbor JC pole vault record of 12ft. 1 in. last weekend as the Seahawks defeated San Diego but lost to Santa Monica in a triangular meet.

Final scores in the meet were Harbor 89, San Diego 32; Santa Monica 70 1/2, Harbor 50 2 1/2; Santa Monica 100 1/2; San Diego 20 1/2. Biller and Meng each vaulted 12ft. 1 in. to crack the old Tech record established last year by Ray Allison at 12ft. even.
