

Death Takes Early Resident

Funeral services for Mary Louisa Thornton, 79, who formerly lived in Torrance for 23 years, were held in the Stone and Myers chapel here Monday morning with Rev. Guy Tobey of the Four-square Church of Gardena officiating.

Mrs. Thornton, who had been living with her son, Charles, at 4502 East La Cara avenue, Long Beach, died last Saturday.

Another son, Mae S. Thornton, lives at 1651 West 213th street, and a daughter, Mrs. Ada Scholey, lives in Compton.

Infant Daughter of El Nido Couple Dies

Funeral services for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd R. Christensen, 2313 Ralston lane, in the El Nido district, were held at the Sherkey and Myers chapel in Redondo Beach Tuesday by the Redondo Ward of the Church of the Latter Day Saints.

Only 21 days old the infant, Anita Christensen, died Saturday. Private cremation services followed the funeral.

She also leaves one brother, six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Interment in Pacific Crest followed Monday's rites.

Summer Sessions Period Allows Longer Vacations

El Camino College will begin its fourth summer session Monday, June 25, according to President Forest G. Murdock. Registration takes place between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. in the college administration building at Crenshaw and Redondo Beach boulevards.

The beginning date of summer session has been set ahead this year, according to President Murdock, to permit students to secure a lengthy vacation after the session ends on August 7.

Although some classes are offered in the morning and others in the afternoon, experience has shown that the most popular classes offered during El Camino's summer session are those that occupy the evening hours beginning from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

President Murdock stressed the point that students of all ages can hold daytime jobs and still attend tuition-free classes of types that either transfer to accredited four year colleges or prepare for jobs.

Alondra Swim Program Signups Continue at City Playgrounds

Fun galore for Torrance children is promised in the free swim program offered by the Torrance Recreation Department this summer. Parents who desire to have their children participate in the program are urged by recreation officials to take them to the nearest playground in their area to have them registered immediately.

Each Tuesday and Thursday from July 10th to August 16th, buses furnished by the Torrance Kiwanis Club will leave from Torrance playgrounds for the Alondra pool.

There, elementary instruction will be given to non-swimmers, while swimmers may take advantage of intermediate or advanced classes. All instruction will be under the direction of Red Cross Swimming Instructors and swim certificates will be awarded at the close of the program.

Four county life guards along with six members of the local recreation department will supervise in the large pool and on the sandy beach, where swings and slides are offered. The beautiful concrete-bottom outdoor pool presents few hazards since it is but four feet deep at its lowest point and no diving boards are present.

According to Frank Carpenter, superintendent of recreation, only children from 6 to 12 will be allowed to take advantage of the program and there may be a limit to participants if the response is too large to accommodate. Every child will be responsible for his own lunch, towel, and swim suit.

Loyola Grad In Research Laboratory

Already at work in the research laboratory of Howard Hughes' aircraft plant in Culver City is Frank Mervin Jarrett, one of the 32 graduates of Loyola University last Sunday.

Jarrett, who lives with his wife Jeannine at 1550 Marcelina avenue, received a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jarrett, 1634 Arlington avenue.

Summer Sessions Open Monday With 599 Pupils

Attendance at the first day of the Summer Session in the city's elementary schools totaled 599, Walter Rehwoald, director of instruction for the school district, announced yesterday.

"The first day's attendance was excellent," he said "but we are still prepared to handle approximately 100 more pupils in the six schools."

Instruction in arithmetic and other school subjects with special emphasis on individual needs is being offered at Fern, North Torrance, Perry, Seaside, Watteria, and Torrance Elementary schools.

The city is operating a special bus to the Seaside school from the Riviera section. Rehwoald said information about schedules can be obtained at the school.

Heaviest enrollment the first day was reported by Torrance Elementary with Seaside a close second. The state foots the bill for the summer schooling based on an average daily attendance record.

Classes are held in each of the schools from 8:30 a.m. until 12:45 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Technicality Nullifies Chamber Director Vote

Even though 111 of the 228 members of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce returned their postcard ballots on a proposal to increase the number of directors on the Chamber governing board from nine to 15, the action has been temporarily nullified due to technical errors in calling the election.

At the board of directors' meeting Monday afternoon this week, Director William A. Zoeller pointed out that 111 ballots was not a majority of the 228 members, as provided in the bylaws. A tally of the 111 votes showed only three members opposed to increasing the number of directors to 15.

While this vote clearly indicated the desire of the membership, President Henry Creger explained, it was decided by the board Monday to hold another referendum in strict conformity with the Chamber bylaws. Director Zoeller was appointed by Creger to chairman the new tally. He is consulting with Director C. T. Ripley, an attorney.

Upholstery Class Has Openings

There are several openings in the free adult night upholstery classes held in bungalow 5 of Torrance Evening High School Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights at 6:30 o'clock, according to Donald Manshaw, director of the adult program.

Because of the exceptional popularity of this class, new people will be received on a first come, first served, basis. Those planning to join this class should go directly to class at its next meeting.
