

Speaker Tells Experiences As Supply Man in Nation's Capital

"A Supply Man Goes to Washington" was the title of a talk given by Charles T. Reichert, division sales manager at the National Supply Company, before members of the National Supply Management at Club Alondra on September 26.

Reichert had been "drafted" in January and called to Washington by the government to help in the organization of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, PAD is the successor to the Petroleum Administration for War, which was discontinued after V-J Day. PAD is set up to coordinate the combined facilities of the petroleum industry so there will be no lost motion in supplying the necessary petroleum products for defense or for war, the speaker said.

Reichert's particular assignment was the securing and distribution of materials necessary to maintain oil field drilling and production operations at the highest possible rate. As a result of this work, the number of drilling rigs now actively engaged throughout the oil fields in the United States is at a higher level than ever before.

Several leading management men of the community were the guests of John D. Spalding, works manager, at the dinner meeting. These honored guests included Mayor Bob L. Haggard, Dean Sears, Bank of Amer-

Resident Complains of Low Flying Planes Here

Complaints that a low-flying airplane was buzzing homes near 187th street and Crenshaw boulevard early Monday morning were registered with Torrance police by Mrs. W. E. Wright, who feared that "something might happen."

Police Officer John Maestri was dispatched to the area, but the plane was gone when he arrived. Mrs. Wright told police that she couldn't get the number of the plane, but it appeared to be headed for the Gardena airport when she last saw it.

OIL MEN ALSO INVENTORS

Inventions and new developments of American oil scientists patented during the last five years total $179—an average of six for every working day.

Teenager Still Critical After Auto Collision

Still on the critical list at Harbor General Hospital yesterday was a teenager Wilmington girl injured early last Saturday morning in a collision at Vermont avenue and Carson street.

Listed as "a little better but still critical," was Pat O'Connor, who suffered cerebral concussion and a multiple laceration in the collision.

Also injured was Ronnie Augustenberg. His condition was listed as "very good," by hospital attendants. The collision occurred early Saturday morning when an auto driven by James Dyckman, in which the two injured youths were riding, collided with one being driven by Roy Mansfield, of Long Beach. Dyckman and Mansfield escaped serious injuries.

Perry School Safety Committee Formed to Supervise Students

By ALBERT ALMEIDA
President Perry School Safety Committee

The boys and girls from Perry School have a group called a safety committee. It consists of two students from every room, a girl and a boy from the first through the eighth grades. They have to wear a badge to show that they are members of the school safety committee.

The safety students are to see that the school rules are carried out, if not, they are to warn the student once, and if he does not mind, he is reported.

In the safety committee there are the president, Albert Almeida; vice-president, Cecile Viveros and a secretary, Juanita Olivares. The members of the safety committee are to set an example for others to follow.

The Perry School PTA is also following a program of safety. These are the members of the safety committee: Margery

Adults Invited To Learn Use of Shop Machines

A new free adult class in machine shop practice is now open on Tuesday nights from 6:30 to 10 at Torrance Evening High School, with Tom Bray as instructor.

This class is open for new registrants who are asked to go directly to class to register with the instructor.

Both beginning and advanced students are welcome, as each student proceeds according to his background, talent and experience. Machines include: milling machine, lathes, drillpress, shaper, and grinder. Both men and women prepare for useful lucrative jobs in aircraft and other defense plants. Theory is cut down to a minimum. It is used only as a background for practical everyday type jobs used in actual industry.

Youth Band To Enter Band Review

Torrance Area Youth Band and its spectacular drum majorette corps are among the early entries in the 11th Annual All-Western Band Review in downtown Long Beach on November 24th, Jimmie James, veteran parade director, announced yesterday.

Under the direction of James Van Dyck the Torrance band numbers 70 musicians and will compete in the junior sponsored class.

The Long Beach Band Parade annually brings together 7000 top musicians from eleven western states and last year the line of march was packed with more than 600,000 spectators.

The review this year will officially open the Southern California Winter Tourist Season, and the 75 or more marching bands will be interspersed by beautiful floats depicting tourist attractions.

Scoring for each of the nine classes of competition is based upon general appearance, musical effect (showmanship), music, marching and maneuvering.
