Holiday Planning Keeps Knolls Busy

By TEO CUNNINGHAM
Lomita 232-J

Only two more weeks until that big day that the kiddies are looking forward to and for which they are putting on their best behavior... the day when the Christian world celebrates the birth of Christ, and the atmosphere is filled with "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men." Right now, everyone is in the midst of Christmas shopping and preparations for the holiday. I'm hoping that this will not keep you from calling in your news, for unless you do, I can't write about it.

fellow pastor of Rev. Passow's, Chaplain and Mrs. J. E. Ross and children, Ramona and Dennis. The two men had gone to school together back in Iowa years ago and have continued their friendship through the years. Chaplain Ross has just returned from duty in Korea with the Air Force there, and is now stationed at Tacoma, Wash. Also present to make his return to the states more enjoyable, were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Freeman of Los Angeles, mutual friends of the Rosses and Passows. Incidentally, the dinner was an initiation for the set of dishes that Chaplain Ross had sent Mrs. Passow from Tokyo.

Thelma Setzer was hostess to about 20 ladies of the Naval Fleet Reserve Auxiliary recently when the girls met at her home on Walnut St. for their regular monthly potluck luncheon. After the delicious lunch, the women worked at dressing the dolls they are outfitting for little girls in the orphanage that they have adopted. Besides having fun getting together, they do some very worthwhile work mending clothing for the less fortunate, and often making up baskets of food for those whose pantries are not as well stocked as they might be.

Taking time out from sight-seeing on their honeymoon, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bourget were guests of honor at a dinner hosted by Rose and Wall Schaefer of Gramercy Ave. Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Bourget of San Pedro, aunt and uncle of the honorees, were also present. The new Mr. and Mrs. Bourget are residents of Vancouver, British Columbia.

The Schaefer family was a busy family also. Last week the committee for the Social Welfare of the Catholic Daughters, Court St. Catherine, met at Rose's home for lunch and to make and fill stockings, wrap gifts, and make final plans for their annual Christmas party for their adopted ward at Harbor General Hospital. Those who worked on this worthwhile project were Mesdames Fran Foster, Evelyn O'Hara, Jerry Orbe and D. Cowden. The first part of this week Mrs. Agnes Harvey, a former resident of the Knolls, paid Rose and Wall a surprise visit. Agnes now lives in San Diego but has taken a few days to renew friendships up here.

Reporting back to duty at Camp Roberts the third of this month was Cpl. Ted A. Graham, brother of Katherine Clever of Calamar St. at the end of a 30-day leave which he had earned on his return to the United States after 17 months duty in Korea. Ted, along with the Clever family motored to Lancaster. Thanksgiving day to spend the day with his mother, Mrs. Alice Morris. The rest of the time he spent as the guest of Katherine and Ralph. In Korea, after recovering from wounds received when a bridge blew up, he worked with an engineering battalion.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Higgins of Phoenix, Ariz., have been the house guests of Mrs. Alma Fees while they were getting the furniture and personal belongings more or less settled in their new home in Manhattan Beach. Mrs. Higgins (Rowena to her friends) is Mrs. Fees' daughter... the latest word from Jack, the son who is in the Navy, is that he is going to sheet metal school in San Diego, and likes quite well the life of a navyman.

Returning recently from a month's visit with her mother, Mrs. Emma Laker, in Springfield, Mo., was Mrs. Frederica Hanna, of 1838 Middlebrook Rd. The Hannas are fairly new residents of the Knolls, having bought the Edwards house last August. The head of the family, William B., is employed at Douglas Aircraft, and 17-year-old Dick is a junior at Torrance High. The Hannas are from Preston, Ida., but plan to make their permanent residence here in the Knolls. Welcome, folks, though we are a bit late in saying it.

Bernice Moore, 1718 W. 235th St., was hostess to the Kettler Knolls Canasta Club last Friday evening, with Thelma Setzer, Bernice Howland, Kay Van Dalsom, Janie Lockett, Vivian Wise, Irma Boucher and Jo Devenish all playing for high score. Bernice Howland took home the high score prize, while Vivian Wise took home the booty prize. Bernice finished off the evening by serving strawberry short cake which the girls report was simply "out of this world."

Circle No. Seven of the WSCS will have its Christmas get-together next Monday evening at the home of Maxine Hopper at 1765 Calamar St. The meeting will be purely social in nature, with a gift grab bag and games appropriate to the occasion.

Bids will soon be taken for the construction of our new school. Construction will start before too long after that, and there are more than just hopes that the school will be ready for classes next September. That is the good news received in the TEAC meeting and luncheon held last Monday at the YWCA. Incidentally, I also saw Ginny Jones and Jo Devenish taking in all the latest on the dental program sponsored by the Torrance Unified School System, the tentative revision of the present reporting system so that the heavy load on the teachers may be lessened, and the explanation of the cooperative Nursery School and how it is connected with the Adult Education program.

Being transferred from Goose Bay, Labrador, to the Air Base at Victorville sort of seems like going from one extreme to the other, but nevertheless, Bill Still is making it a pleasant trip, for enroute he stopped in Marceline, Mo., and picked up his mother, Mrs. Iona Still. Then they motored here to spend the rest of his delay enroute with his sister, Carmen Nelson of Reynosa Dr. Last Sunday they drove to San Diego to visit another brother, Don Still, who is taking his boot camp training there.

Faye Curry of Reynosa Dr. arrived by bus last Tuesday evening mighty glad to get back to the milder climates of Southern California. She and hubby Frank spent two weeks in Pueblo, Colo., visiting Faye's mother, Mrs. Cora Underwood, and in Denver with Faye's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hensley. Frank returned at the end of his two-week vacation, but as Mr. Hensley was quite ill, Faye stayed on another week. They tell me that they got there just in time for the recent inclement weather, when the temperature dropped to seven degrees below zero and out a bit of snow fell. Brrrr! Makes one cold just hearing about it.

Joyce and Bill Tucker of Huber St. returned last week after spending 10 days in Riverside caring for Bill Tucker Sr.'s business while Bill's mother and father went East to pick up a new car. Joyce reports that the weather was just beautiful the whole time they were there, and they really had a very nice time... and the lucky people came home with a '51 Plymouth themselves, as Bill Jr. bought his father's.
