Rabies in Humans Preventable
 But if Contracted, Is Incurable

Rabies is one of the oldest and most deadly diseases known. It cannot be cured after it has developed, and it is always fatal. However, it can be prevented, according to Dr. Roy O. Gilbert, County Health Officer.

All warm-blooded animals are susceptible to rabies. A bite from an infected animal spreads the disease through the injection of saliva which contains the rabies virus.

This virus travels through the nerve trunks to the spinal cord and the brain causing paralysis and death. The prompt treatment by a physician of a wound from the bite of an infected animal, together with injections of anti-rabies vaccine (Pasteur treatment), is the approved procedure for prevention of human rabies.

The average incubation period of rabies in humans is 40 to 60 days, although it can vary anywhere from 10 days to a year or more. Wounds from bites on the face and neck are apt to produce symptoms more rapidly.

An animal which has bitten a person should not be killed. Instead it should be quarantined and observed for two weeks by health department officials. If the animal is still alive and well after two weeks, there is practically no danger of rabies. If the animal develops rabies, Pasteur treatment is indicated for the person who was bitten.

Bites from infected dogs account for 90 per cent of human cases in the United States, and cats, cows, horses, hogs, sheep and various wildlife cause the remainder.

There are two types of the disease in dogs and other animals. One is called "furious" rabies, the other "dumb" rabies is

Banning Pilots
 Down Thinclads
 53-49 in Meet

Torrance bumped up against one of the area's better track teams here Friday afternoon and came out only four points behind the visitors.

Hosting the Banning Pilots, Coach Vern Wolfe's and Coach Willard Morgan's Tartans won six firsts and were shut out only in the high jump and shot put during the afternoon.

Polevaulter Larry Roy, who set a new varsity vaulting record recently, had no trouble winning the meet at 11 ft. 6 in., but he tried three times to clear the 12 ft. 1 in. bar for a new school record. He brushed it off each time — but coaches and other observers say he'll make the height before the season is over.

Miller Leo Valencia cut another second off his time to win the mile in 4:46.5. Each time out this year, Valencia has bettered his previous run. He's shooting for a 4:40 mile.

Doug Foulger had little trouble winning the broadjumping event at 20 ft. 2 in.—four inches short of his best for the season.

Other firsts Friday went to Bob Guerra, who took the 880 run in 2:14; Bob Brow, who took the 220 in 28.5; and the 880 relay composed of Lafferty, Philip, Sousa, and Brow, who turned the two laps in 1:40.

In the Class B competition, Torrance took all but three events to beat the Banning lightweights 59-33.

The Banning Class C team won 43-34, although Torrance grabbed off four firsts in this class.

Teachers, Banner to Play
 For City Cage Championship

The Torrance Teachers, winners of the Class B City cage crown, and the Banner Druggs, winners of Class A League, will meet to decide the winner of the city's perpetual trophy here Wednesday night. Game time is 7:30 in the new high school gymnasium.

The Teachers won the berth in the championship tilt Friday night by defeating Harvey Machine 46-44 in an overtime, playoff game.

After the regular season had ended last Wednesday night with Harvey and the Teachers deadlocked in first place, the two met Friday to decide the championship.

The game was nip-and-tuck up to the final gun, which sounded with the scoreboard reading 42-42. In a three-minute overtime period, Jim Halle scooted through the Harvey defense to sink a lay-up shot, and Don Porter potted two charity tosses to add four points to the Teachers' score. In the mean-

EUROPEAN SPORTS CARS HAVEN'T ALTERED LAWS

The California Highway Patrol reminded slow drivers that despite the appearance of European sports cars on the roads, the American system of keeping to the right is still in use.

Patrol Chief E. Raymond Cato said four-lane highways seem to have created a new type of driver who knows which two of the four lanes is his, but who pokes along on the inside lane, posing a hazard for the normal flow of traffic.

Chief Cato pointed out that the Vehicle Code was specific in its provisions on "keeping to the right."

He quoted the applicable section of the code as stating, in part, "any vehicle proceeding at less than the normal speed of traffic . . . shall be driven in the right hand lane . . . or as close as practicable to the right hand edge or curb."

The chief said these left-lane drivers force other vehicles to weave in and out in order to maintain normal speed. This lane switching is causing many mishaps, he said.

"Strange as it seems," Chief Cato added, some motorists still drive on the wrong side of two-lane roads, definitely illegal unless they're passing other vehicles.

"That practice accounted for almost 5000 accidents last year in which 350 persons died and more than 4500 were injured," he said.

Chief Cato also asked drivers of slow vehicles to observe the unwritten law of courtesy on two-lane roads and pull off on the shoulder, where practical, whenever traffic stacks up behind them.

Redondo Cage Crew
 Out of CIF Finals

Hopes of the Redondo Seahawks—entry of the Bay League in the CIF playoffs—to cop the cage title of the Southland were nailed to the wall in Long Beach Friday night as the Compton Tarabebes spun out a 61-46 victory over the injury-riddled beach team.

Suffering untold damage by the loss of star center Harlan Geach, who cracked a foot bone in the Ventura game Tuesday night, the Hawks could never get rolling against the strong Compton quintet.

Compton pulled ahead 16-6 in the first quarter led 29-15 at the half, and 49-27 by the end of the third quarter. During the final frame, with everybody on the Compton bench but the coach and the towel boy seeing action, the Seahawks outscored their rivals by eight points.

Woody Sauldsberry, the accurate scorer of the Tarabebes, gave the spectators a look-see at how he operated during the season by sinking 10 field goals and six free tosses for a total of 26 points during the fray.

Last night, the Seahawks were lined up to play Colton for the third place ribbon, in a preliminary game to the finals between Compton and Loyola.
