

Seniors Unveil Acting Talent Wednesday

Budding thespians of the Torrance Woman's Club will entertain their club sisters with a short drama, "Santa Goes to Town," following an informal luncheon at the Clubhouse, 1422 Engracia Ave., next Wednesday, Dec. 16.

The play, first effort of the club's new drama section, centers around the efforts of several young co-eds to prove to a little crippled girl who enters the hospital on Christmas Eve that Santa Claus is a real spirit and not just a man dressed up in a red suit.

Mrs. W. C. Boswell, assistant drama chairman, is directing the production. The co-ed doubling as Santa is played by Nancy (Mrs. J. A.) Eisenbrandt. Tessie is portrayed by her daughter, Joann Eisenbrandt; and Tessie's mother, Katie, who is maid at the girls' school, is played by Emma (Mrs. B. W.) Roberts. Estelle (Mrs. A. F. R.) Ewalt, takes the role of Miss Sharp, head of the girls' school, while other co-eds are played by Helen (Mrs. H. L.) Mitchell, Martha (Mrs. William) Christian; Bonnie (Mrs. L. A.) McCoy; Virginia (Mrs. Parke) Montague; Joyce (Mrs. John) Oursler; and Ethel (Mrs. Gil) Derouin.

Giving spirit of Christmas will be emphasized at the event, with each member bringing a toy which will then be distributed through Torrance Health Center to less fortunate children in this area. Mrs. A. E. Palmer, philanthropy chairman, is in charge of this welfare project. Other highlights of the program will include carol singing and a gift exchange.

SURPRISE . . . Santa, played by Nancy (Mrs. J. A. Eisenbrandt), surprises crippled Tessie (Joann Eisenbrandt) with Christmas gifts while "schoolgirls" Joyce (Mrs. John) Oursler and Bonnie (Mrs. L. A.) McCoy and Tessie's mom, Emma (Mrs. B. W.) Roberts look on. Scene is from the play "Santa Goes to Town" which budding thespians in the Torrance Woman's Club will present at the next informal luncheon, slated for Dec. 16 at the Clubhouse, 1422 Engracia Ave. (Herald photo)

INSTALLATIONS SPARK SATURDAY SLATE HERE

Two installation ceremonies will mark the Saturday social slate here.

Miss Janie Moffatt will be crowned as queen of Job's Daughters at 8 p.m. rites in the Masonic Temple, succeeding Miss Carol Campbell. To be seated in the new queen's court are Janice Crabtree, senior princess; Carol Maloy, junior princess; Sally Speck, guide; and Diane Allen, marshal. The public is invited to attend the ceremonies.

Dinner will precede rites installing new officers of the Torrance Firemen's Association and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Torrance Fire Department, to be held at the main fire station on Cravens Ave. Ed Poulston will take over as president of the men's group, while Mrs. William Russell will be seated as Auxiliary president. Decorations for the event, to begin at 7:30 p.m., will feature a Christmas motif.

Heights, Ladies Forming Club

A "Greet Your Neighbor" social club for women now is being organized in Seaside Heights, according to Mrs. Frank Burk. Assisting Mrs. Burk with organization plans for the club, which will hold its first session in January, are Mesdames Wall Ansey, Frank Callahan, and Patterson. "We are contacting several women in the area to determine their interest in such a group, and welcome phone calls from others who are interested," Mrs. Burk said. Mrs. Burk may be reached at FTontier 5-4549; women also may call Mrs. Ansey at FTontier 5-4689 for further information.

Co-op School Board Sets Monday Meet.

Board of directors of the Torrance Co-operative Nursery School will meet next Monday night, Dec. 14, at 7 o'clock at the 804 Maple Ave. home of the membership chairman, Mrs. Jim Cahow, according to Mrs. Charles Moore, publicity chairman.

At last Monday's parent class, Milton Babitz, consultant in parent education for California, gave an evaluation of the parent education program. A discussion of toys appropriate for different age levels, supplemented by a display of the fun-makers, also featured the session.
