Lutheran Choir Christmas Music Slated Today

The choir of the First Lutheran Church will sing its Christmas music at the Sunday morning worship service, Dec. 20, at 10:45. They will offer seven numbers from the Christmas cantata, "Gloria In Excelsis," arranged from the music by Felix Mendelssohn.

The first number, "Rejoice, O Earth," is the well-known War March of the Priests, from "Athaliae."

The second number, "Starry Night of Splendor," is the beautiful melody of Mendelssohn's nocturne, from "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The ladies will blend their voices in a lovely duet arrangement of "On Wings of Song." The final number will be the majestic and joyful "Thanks Be To God," from "Elijah."

Ruth White will conduct the choir, and Nadine Bay will play the organ accompaniment.

CHRISTMAS HOBBY . . . Fred Schmid, of 1548 Marcelina, sets up his Christmas village each year in the living room of his home. A custodian for the Torrance Unified School District, Schmid started his hobby of building homes nearly 25 years ago and still has some of his first buildings in his display. A larger layout set up by Schmid back in New Jersey several years ago included trains, depots, water towers, and other reminders of a complete city. (Herald photo)
