"Affairs of State" Rated Top Sample of Sophisticated Comedy

By WARREN LAVENDAR

Last Saturday night the Hampton Players tackled the most difficult type of drama, sophisticated comedy, and came up with a fast-moving, highly amusing play.

In "Affairs of State," the author, Louis Verneuil, has taken a well-known theme, the marriage of convenience, and applied it, in a unique and interesting manner, to the Washington scene.

Carl Rogers in the role of Philip, the influential manipulator of events and people, plays with such subtlety and sensitivity that you are entranced to the point of ignoring the fact that he does not look 70 years old.

Mary Woodson is delightful as Irene and effects the transformation from school teacher to Washington hostess with ease and grace, giving to her role an enthusiasm and vitality that is not often seen.

Natural Movements Pat Rogers as Constance has an astonishing amount of stage presence. Her movements are natural and graceful. I would have preferred that the double meanings in her lines were not made, so obvious, but this did not stop me from enjoying her performance.

Jim Reeves is excellent as the Senator, George Henderson

Highway Patrol To Step Up Registration Enforcement

Upon receipt of information that current registration renewals for the year 1954 are practically complete, Commissioner B. R. Caldwell of the California Highway Patrol has announced that the Patrol will immediately step up enforcement of those sections of the Vehicle Code relating to proper registration of motor vehicles.

Motorists are reminded that the one red tab for 1954 is to be securely attached to the rear license plate. Under no circumstance is the front plate to be removed, though all drivers are requested to dispose of the 1953 license tab.

Attention of all vehicle operators is also directed to the provision of the code which requires the registration certificate to be displayed.
