

CLIMB OFF IT . . . It's a 15-foot fall from the top of this boxcar. Pacific Electric Railway posed the above picture to emphasize the fact that it's dangerous to play on railroad equipment. So, let's get down, boys.

Kids Warned by PE to Keep Off Rail Equipment

There's no vacation from safety! With the close of school near, Pacific Electric Railway's trainmen and motor coach operators today were urged to take that slogan to heart for the summer months.

"Our continuous safety program includes a special effort at this time of year to look out for the youngsters all day long," said Harry L. Young, PE superintendent of safety. "While they play more we work harder to keep from spoiling a single vacation with an accident."

But a child's one thoughtless moment can be fatal in spite of all efforts to protect him. Young emphasized in appealing to parents to keep their children out of streets and away from railroad tracks.

His special warning against playing around freight equipment included these "don'ts":
 Don't climb on freight cars — a sudden start can cause a bad fall.
 Don't play in empty cars — they may be moved before you realize it.
 Don't climb between coupled cars — you could lose a foot.
 Don't walk rails — you could be struck before you knew a train was near.
 Don't cross tracks without looking both ways — good advice for adults too!

'Use Your Head, Don't Lose It,' -- Highway Patrol

California's basic speed law, one of the few in the book that invites drivers to use their own judgment, is the traffic law most frequently broken, the California Highway Patrol noted this week.

The law, section 510 of the Vehicle Code, states "no person shall drive a vehicle upon a highway at a speed greater than is reasonable or prudent having due regard for the traffic on, and the surface and width of, the highway and in no event at a speed which endangers the safety of persons or property." Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell said the general idea motorists have of "reasonable and prudent" can be indicated by the fact that almost one-third of all Highway Patrol arrests are for excessive speed.

In addition, he said almost one-third of all the fatal and injury accidents throughout the state involve the same violation. Caldwell warned drivers against judging their speed entirely by posted speed limits. "These posted limits designate speeds which are safe under normal conditions," he said. "Any abnormal condition such as rain, fog, heavy traffic, a driver's fatigue or his unfamiliarity with the road, poses a hazard and makes the posted speed unsafe." Caldwell said the Patrol was joining the National Safety Council and the California Association of Insurance Agents in carrying out a "speed control" educational program during June. "The best way to control speed he told motorists, is to 'apply the basic speed law whenever you drive. If you don't endanger persons or property you won't have an accident."
