

Moose Charge Juvenile Curfew Laws Ineffectively Enforced

Charges that juvenile curfew laws were ineffectively enforced and complacently dealt with by our courts were contained in a resolution adopted last week by the Torrance lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose.

The resolution, a scathing attack on the apathy of public officials and police departments in the Greater Los Angeles areas, was presented to the District Moose lodge officials this week, according to Joseph Platt, chairman of the lodge's civic affairs committee.

The Torrance Moose members recommended a "strict enforcement of the so-called curfew laws," as the only weapon the public has to curb delinquency among juveniles. The resolution also advocated "the imposition of heavy fines, as provided by law, on the parents of children violating the curfew laws."

Enforcement Hit
Citing what the lodge called increasing amounts of crime and unsavory incidents involving juveniles in the area in recent months, the resolution concluded that the curfew laws were "ineffectively enforced, for unknown reason, and when enforced are complacently dealt with by the courts, usually resulting in unheeded warnings to negligent parents. The Torrance Lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose," the resolution continued, "feels that the saving of one child from involvement in a criminal action is worth the discomfort of negligent parents in a court of law."

TONS OF TUNA CANNED
California's tuna fishermen delivered just under 15,000 tons of tuna to the State's canneries during September, according to preliminary figures compiled by the marine fisheries branch of the California Department of Fish and Game.
