Miss Bennett, C. W. Olsen Newly Wed

Now making their home in Torrance following a honeymoon at various Southern California resorts are the new Mr. and Mrs. Carl William Olsen, nee Carol Barbara Bennett, who exchanged rings and vows July 29 at the Aloha Wedding Chapel in Long Beach.

The Rev. Arthur H. Akins officiated at the 8 o'clock evening rites uniting Olsen, son of the C. W. Olsens of 1308 Cordary Ave., and Miss Bennett, daughter of the John Bennetts of 2020 Andree Ave., in marriage.

For the trip to the altar, the bride, escorted by her father, wore a navy blue linen suit with white accessories and a white or child corsage. Her only attendant, Loretta Paige, selected a white print dress harmonizing with her corsage of pink carnations. Ronald Davis assumed the honor position as best man.

Baskets of pastel gladioli decorated the church for the nuptials, and white satin bows marked the aisles. Traditional "I Love You Truly" and "Because" set the wedding mood before the ceremony.

Both bride and groom attended Torrance High School. He is now employed at the Palos Verdes Sanitation Dept.

Reflections

By J. HUGH SHERFFEY, JR. WHO IS HE?

This man is tall or short, thin or obese, has curly or straight hair, brown or blue eyes. Know him? He is you.

To become acquainted with that man we carry around is a big job but one that has infinite possibilities for good. He isn't perfect, in fact his flaws are legion. He won't steal money no physical possessions belonging to another, yet, he may steal a smile with an unkind word; he isn't cruel but kind, when it suits his mood, yet at times a look, shrug or sneer hurts worse than a thrown rock.

It isn't easy to know this person, he erects barriers to shield himself, blandly covering his ego with the straw of his approbation. Uncover this little known individual and you'll discover an interesting personality -- that needs attention.
