COMING HUSH HUSH EVENTS:

One of the most famous magazine publishers in all the world will suddenly order his magazine to cease publication before he is thrown into bankruptcy, due to his manipulations in foreign bonds. This man bet on the wrong side against the American interests, and he will find that he has lost! No one is big enough to sell America short! . . . A former mayor of one of our largest cities will soon be brought before the bar of justice on a paternity charge. This case will cross state lines and will involve the Federal courts before it is completed! . . . One of our leading Paris designers who sets the fashion trend, will not be granted entry into the United States due to a morals charge, for this woman has masqueraded as a man for years, and she will not reveal her sex for she will claim that "women have no chance in the world of fashion, that is why I must pose as a man!"

WOMEN WHO WILL MAKE NEWS:

Dr. Sonia Garber will perfect a new cure for high blood pressure based on an oriental remedy over a thousand years old! . . . Norma Talmadge, one of the most fabulous stars of the silent screen, will make a comeback which will delight all of her old fans! . . . Frances E. Willard, one of the most militant of all the suffragettes, will be portrayed on the screen by Marjorie Maine, in a rousing comedy! . . . The late Florence Harding, the wife of President Harding, will find herself back in the news when her estate is settled which will involve one of the largest newspaper properties in America! . . . Mrs. Babe Ruth will auction off her famous husband's personal belongings to establish a scholarship for new and promising baseball players!

A VERY FAMOUS PREDICTION

Cicero, the greatest orator and man of letters the Roman Empire has ever known, was a great believer of prophecy, and was an ardent student of astrology, who at the height of his career, personally employed on his private staff, 1000 astrologers, who insisted he would live forever! On his death he cried out for the prophets who told him he would live forever. Their prediction came true, for each astrologer he had hired had died, for he only hired old venerable soothsayers, who beat him to the Golden Shore. The doctor's reply to Cicero's query was: "They were right, for you lived beyond their forecast!" Cicero then died happy at 63—at the peak of his fame!

WHAT WILL YOU DO IN 1959?

In 1959, and I predict you will all live to see the day, you will have the "chance" taken out of gambling, for you will be able to have a "small electric brain" in your home when you can feed equations, and get the proper answer! The right horse, the trumps in your opponent's hand, the right number on the roulette table, plus just how your mate will line up in future life! Yes, the chance will be taken out of life. A computer will reveal how long you will live and what disease will carry you off. The surprise will be taken out of life and for that reason I predict that 1959 will be rather dreary and unexciting! You and I then will look back to the good old days of 1954!

Dear Criswell: My telephone is on a party line, and it's most annoying. There is some man who keeps interrupting my conversations, trying to date me. Last week while talking to a leading lady of the town he embarrassed me to tears. How can I stop this beast? I wouldn't think of dating him. Glenna 051

My dear Glenna: Report this man's action to your telephone company, and they will take necessary steps to see that this man is taken off your party line. He is a neighborhood pest, and no one you would care to know.

Dear Criswell: There are two men living next door who are very dirty. They have been catching mice, and at night throw them through my basement window. I protest when they moved in which is why they are so mean. Must I simply tolerate their behavior? Therese O.P.

My dear Therese: You should get together with other neighbors and report these men to your Board of Health. I know this situation will soon be cleared.

Dear Criswell: Will this neighbor carry out his threat to kill me if he sees me wearing shorts in the backyard again? Flora A. 3030

My dear Flora: If this man threatens you again report him to the police. As you say, he has been known to harm other women who annoyed him, and his type should be behind bars.

Dear Criswell: I recently purchased a car and the thing is falling apart now. I tried to trace the man I bought it from, but cannot locate him. It was a terrific bargain, but now I see what a mistake I made. Is there anything I can do? Fred D.Y.

My dear Fred: Whenever buying an automobile always buy from a reputable dealer or from someone who is a permanent resident of your community. This man was an opportunist and travels from town to town pulling deals such as this. Do not be taken in by great bargains, for you get what you pay for.

Dear Criswell: My father left me this big old house, and I just moved in. There's a dirty old man living there now and he claims the house belongs to him. How can I overcome this mess? Olga S. R. 3

My dear Olga: Consult your attorney at once and see that this man leaves without causing any trouble. He sold the house to your father many years ago and moved back in when your father passed away.

Dear Criswell: Will I ever find my mother's lace tablecloth? Mrs. Emma 040

My dear Emma: Search in the old sewing machine, for you say your mother was always in her sewing room and I feel sure you will find this tablecloth.

Dear Criswell: My husband says if I go on this vacation he'll leave me. I haven't had a vacation since I married him over 30 years ago. Will he really do as he says? Worried Lucille

My dear Lucille: You have sacrificed your life for this man, and he is helpless without you. Take this well-deserved vacation, and let him care for himself for a while. He will never leave you, for he would be completely lost.

Dear Criswell: When my ex-husband died I wasn't even invited to the funeral. My daughter went and told me how lovely it all was. I always give a big party every year for all the family. Should I slight them as they slighted me? E. A. B.

My dear E. A. B.: Do not slight them, for this was an oversight and a disinterested party was handling the funeral arrangements. Although you state you hadn't spoken to your ex-husband over 20 years, you should have attended the funeral even though they did not make arrangements to come by for you in a car.

Dear Criswell: Why is my hair falling out? Will I be completely bald like my husband? Ora A.

My dear Ora: You should seek advice from your doctor at once, for he will be able to prescribe the proper diet and medical attention you need.

Dear Criswell: I just returned from six weeks in the hospital and on checking our bank book I find my husband has spent practically every cent we had. Can I get any of this money back? Mr. Myra McG. Some of this money is in a safety deposit box. Check with the bank.

The SQUIRREL CAGE

By REID BUNDY

ROUGH WEEK—Chauffeur driven Caddie limousines are about as rare in Torrance as Bedouin picnics, but a Cravens Ave. spy reports he saw one the other day. It hauled up in front of the State employment office at Gramercy, left a well-dressed gentleman, then made a couple of turns around the block while the boss picked up a little gas allowance at the unemployment claims window. Must have had a rough week at Del Mar.

TITLE SHOT—Attorney and Mrs. Boris S. Woolley, who recently named their new daughter Louise in honor of a favorite aunt, jokingly referred to the little tyke on a couple of occasions as "Aunt Louise." You guessed it—friends, neighbors, and relatives now call her "Aunt Louise." It's almost to the point, Woolley admits, to where he's ready to yell "uncle."

PUBLIC SERVICE—For those of you who like to plan things out a little ahead of time, we'd like to say there are only 91 more shopping days left before Christmas (not counting today).

SUDDEN THOUGHT—Wonder what ever happened to that colonel, or was it senator, and his Hadacol?

A SPORTIN' GENT—An anonymous caller who claimed to be "at least 85 years old," wanted to talk to Mr. Criswell here the other day. When we explained that the HERALD'S popular columnist had his office elsewhere, our caller said he'd write to him about his problem. Seems Criswell always signs off his "What You'll be Doing in 1959" predictions with the comment: "and I predict you will be alive to witness it," or some such. Our friend apparently wanted to do a little betting.

OVERHEARD—"No she doesn't think of men all of the time. But when she thinks, she thinks of men." Which reminds us of the phrase which has been credited to Frances Rodman: "A platonic friendship by any other name would be just as disappointing."

He who has a thousand friends Has not a friend to spare; And he who has one enemy Will meet him everywhere. —Ralph Waldo Emerson
