

Labor Leaders Back Hospital

The part union locals will take in the Torrance Memorial Hospital Building Fund Campaign was discussed at a meeting of labor representatives held recently on the campus of El Camino Junior College.

Judge John A. Shidler of South Bay Municipal Court and a department chairman of the campaign presided at the meeting. He shared the speaker's table with Dr. Forest G. Murdock, president of the college; Sy Franks, a member of the Hospital Speakers Bureau; George C. Anderson, M. D. of Hermosa Beach; Paul Lessing, chairman of the National Supply of Local 128, Oil Workers International Union, CIO; Herb Demott, business manager of Butchers Union 551, (AFL), discuss problems of Torrance Memorial Hospital at a labor cooperation meeting held last week.

Dr. Murdock welcomed the men and women, representing all of the labor unions of the area, to El Camino College and gave a short talk on the college program.

Chairman Creger, manager of the American Radiator & Standard Sanitary plant in Torrance, spoke about the common interest of all citizens in having Class A hospital care available.

Lessing, as co-chairman of the Labor Cooperation Committee of the campaign, said that the CIO and the Oil Workers Union is fully behind the plans to give adequate hospital care to the people of the Torrance area.

Demott, a member of the joint AFL-CIO subcommittee on health and welfare, said his union is aware that Torrance Memorial Hospital does not lack customers. "The union people here are covered by insurance, and they are becoming more conscious of the needs for hospital care and medical care," he said. "They are using hospital facilities more, and that explains why those facilities are now overtaxed."

Observation Important
Dr. Anderson discussed the problem as a member of the hospital's medical staff.

"Observation of a patient after he has had an operation is a very important part of the care we give him at the hospital. Now, with the patient's resting period in the hospital cut to two days or less because of the shortage of space we cannot observe him this protection. He goes home with sutures still in place. He is out from under the observation of the nurses who would, otherwise, be caring for him around the clock. But, a critically ill person needs the hospital more than one who is recovering, and he gets the bed."

Franks' talk was paired with a motion picture on hospital operations and gave the story on the founding and the growth in needs of the Torrance hospital.

Leadership Topic of New Institute

Leadership of young people is the topic of a forthcoming institute, sponsored by the Torrance Recreation Department, to be held Saturday, Jan. 22, at the Civic Auditorium.

Two sessions, one in the morning, the other in the afternoon, are planned and professional workers in youth agencies and the general public is invited.

Ben Solomon, director, says the techniques that will work in the guidance of one child might lead to the downfall of another, and careful consideration must be given by youth workers to determine exact differences.

The philosophy, principles and techniques of leadership, the qualifications and training of leaders and other related topics will highlight the sessions.
