A BRAND OF GRACIOUS SUBURBAN LIVING

Jose Dolores Sepulveda, first occupant of the place known as Palos Verdes, little dreamed that his abundant Rancho would some day become "home" for many Californians.

But today in historic Rancho Palos Verdes . . . several thousand acres of sunny, rolling hills, swept by clean breezes from the sparkling blue Pacific . . . are being changed into a planned community of homes.

Here in the most favored Rancho of the Dons, all that is fine in California living is being created . . . homesites offering ample room for fun, modern schools, smart shopping areas, beautiful churches, glorious recreation facilities.

Thus this romantic old brand, which most fittingly combines the warm, hospitable symbols of the heart and the cup, takes on new meaning in California history. Here truly is a brand of gracious suburban living . . . Rancho Palos Verdes . . . where you can make the home of your dreams a reality.
