Dave Coen Launches Pleasure Boat Which He Built Himself

By BETTY MITCHELL
DA 6-4138

Last week was an eventful one for the Dave Coens, of Ward St., since it was the week they launched their 26-foot pleasure craft, "Narcus," which put out to sea from the harbor in Wilmington.

The Coens are doubly proud of their craft, since Dave himself, built it after the hull was done. In fact, that is where most of his recent spare time has gone. But after seeing their boat, and anticipating all the good times they will have on it, they agree that it was time not only pleasurably, but well spent.

They made a trip to Catalina Island last week end with the "U. S. Power Squadron," a group of pleasure craft owners, for a meeting and dinner at the St. Catherine.

The Ralph Parsons, of Cricklewood St., are enjoying a few weeks away on a vacation trip. Their goal was the state of Kansas.

The Wilbur McFarlands chose a beach camping trip as their way to spend the long week end, so they packed up the trailer and headed for Redondo, 18 miles the other side of Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Polly Moorehead, of Winlock Dr., and Mrs. Knopp of Wilmington had an enjoyable time when they went to visit a friend of Mrs. Knopp's during open house at Fort Ord.

The Frank DeCaros went visiting on Sunday when they went to Reseda to visit Frank's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick DeCaro. The DeCaro family began their vacation last week end. They are on a combination sight-seeing trip and camping trip up through Canada.

Mrs. Joyce Bears, of Newton St., and her daughter, Mary Lou, along with Jimmy Williams and his two daughters, had a good time at Big Bear over the holiday. Joyce and Jimmy, by the way, will soon be hearing wedding bells when they are married in Florida the middle of this month.

The Jim Harners, of Danaha St., spent their week end camping when they headed for Santa Barbara with a well stocked trailer and sleeping equipment.

Dea Bryant, of Cricklewood St., has been very ill with an attack of arthritis. He was stricken at his place of employment on Thursday evening.

These next few weeks will be busy ones for Mrs. Joann Stark, of Danaha St. The furniture will all be stored, packing will be done, and the house rented, preparatory to her trip to Japan. She will be leaving the middle of this month with young son, Steve, for the journey.

Waiting anxiously for her arrival will be hubby, George, who is stationed in Japan with the U. S. Army.

Martha Circle of the WSCS, held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Hazel Cogan recently. It was a busy time for the 14 ladies present since they held their election of officers. Serving in official capacity during the next year will be Mrs. Stewart Rose as chairman, Mrs. Doris Kelton as co-chairman and program advisor, Mrs. Bill Williams as secretary, Mrs. Glenn Maxwell as treasurer, Mrs. Lois Daniels as card chairman, Mrs. Robert Cramer as devotional chairman, Mrs. Jerry Cogan as ways and means chairman with Mrs. Wilbur McFarland as her assistant. After the business of the evening was over, refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

Reflections

By J. HUGH SHERFEY, JR.

FLAG DAY, JUNE 14th
It was September 1777. The first frost was white on the ground. Men shivered behind earthworks when a suddenly a man roared, "Charge!" rang out. As they climbed out of the trench the men saw a beautiful flag fluttering, the red and white stripes rippled and the thirteen stars on the blue field were symbols of all they held sacred. That emblem electrified them, sent them to victory. That flag has not changed, new stars are added but the stripes — red for daring and white for purity — stand today as they did at the battle of Brandywine.

Display your flag. Hang it with the blue field closest to your heart. It is the emblem of everything we own, all of our thoughts, all of our ideals, our schools, churches, postage stamps and the thousands of things we take for granted. Wherever you are, whatever you may be doing, display the flag of the United States of America. That's you, me and a hundred million more like us.
