

TORRANCE'S YOUNGEST THESPIANS TO GIVE SIXTH SHOW WEDNESDAY

—TORRANCE Youngest 3-24—
The curtain will go up Wednesday on a production put on by what is probably Torrance's youngest group of organized thespians.

The Ardath Ave. Players, a group of children under 10 years old, will put on their sixth semi-annual production this Wednesday and Thursday, presenting "Hiawatha," "Ten Little Indians" and "Davy Crockett."

Directed by Mrs. David Osterback, of 16410 Ardath Ave., the players consist of children from the neighborhood of 164th and Ardath Ave. The plays will be presented in Mrs. Osterback's back yard with a Wednesday matinee at 3 p.m. and a Thursday evening performance at 7 p.m.

Puppet Show Started
The group was formed about two years ago when a group of neighborhood girls asked Mrs. Osterback, a former recreation leader and social worker, to help them with a puppet show.

The show was so successful that the boys wanted to get in the act, and the group began putting on both a mid-summer and Christmas production.

It has developed to the point where there is also an alumni group — composed of former members who are older than 10. These act as the Ardath Ave. Players Advisory Committee. These youngsters handle the various arrangements for the plays—stage settings, publicity, act as ushers, and help with the younger actors.

150 Parents Attend
The Players' last production drew a crowd of about 150 proud mothers and fathers and other neighbors, and the Players are hoping for even better attendance this time. All the proceeds from the play go into the fund for the next performance, or else for a party for the youngsters.

Mrs. Osterback is the author of most of the presentations. This year's production has a frontier theme, with a pantomime and speaking chorus presented by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's famed "Hiawatha." Also on the program is Kindergarten and pre-school age children presenting "Ten Little Indians" in nursery rhymes and "Davy Crockett."

Rehearsals Held
Rehearsals for the production begin about a month before the show. Regular meetings of the advisory committee are planned in the future.

Richard Dunipace will play Hiawatha in this year's show, with Nancy Flower portraying his ever-loving squaw, Minnehaha. Others in the cast include John Mattingly, Janie Hendrick, Mark Knox, Stevie Widner, David Dunipace, Michael Witt, Nicky Hendrick, Ted Wegener, Sue Flower, Emily Habt, Cindy Hammerlee, Debbie Hammerlee, Barbara Witt, and Pam Dunipace. Donna Alldis, Donna D'Amico, Terry Keldrauk, Cathy Knox, and Linda Knox will be in the speaking chorus.

YOUNG THESPIANS . . . The Ardath Ave. Players, a group of youngsters from north Torrance, will put on their semi-annual production this Wednesday and Thursday, presenting "Hiawatha," "Ten Little Indians," and "Davy Crockett." Rehearsing here for the "Hiawatha" play are Dale Keldrauk, Mark Knox, Jeannie Emgee, and Nancy Flower. The set was designed by Raymond Legere.
