Third Pole Sitter Takes Over in Try for New Mark

Assuming more confidence, and claiming more tenacity, than any of his predecessors, Hal Ingman, 25 year old Redondo Beach painter, became the third "competitor" in the Twin Pontiac flagpole sitting contest, which the Twins hope will eventually result in a new world's record.

The present universal standard for sitters, a rather obscure sport which receives little of the limelight (possibly because there are so few who have the aptitude) is 196 days. Ingman, however, has a different purpose than most for wanting to sit that long.

A man with a desire to get ahead, Ingman worked out an arrangement with the Pontiac Twins, Richard and Robert Greenwald, 605 Pacific Coast Hwy, Hermosa Beach, whereby Ingman will receive a four-year scholarship to college if he breaks the record.

A family man with a wife and a pair of papooses (not that he's Chief High Trader) he also has one due in a couple of weeks. Married four years,

Nuss Moving in Army At Base in Kentucky

Pvt. Martin Nuss, son of John Nuss, of 2121 W. 177th St., is receiving basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., as a member of the 3rd Armored Division.

Private Nuss, assigned to Company A of the division's 13th Infantry Battalion, entered the Army in July of this year.

Ingman also adds that he gets about seven hours sleep a day (or night) and that he does daily exercising, pushups, sit-ups and the like, to keep in trim and keep from getting stiff. He says his wife keeps his clothing and laundry just as if he was living among civilization.

Hal also urged car buyers to give him a ring because "I want to make some money while I'm up here to help pay the first year of school. The scholarship covers the tuition and books but I've got to support myself. I can appraise cars up here, and you'll probably get a better deal because I can't look your car over quite as close as the salesman on the ground."

Hal's now in his ninth day atop the celebrated Sky High Teepee!
