Steel's like that big, healthy, growing boy of yours!

Most Americans, busy with their own pursuits, think of steel as a great sprawling industry—big, strong, never tiring, never stopping. Steel is all that. But it's more. In many ways this big industry is like that strapping son of yours or those big lads next door or down the block.

Both need food. For the boy his three squares a day, with seconds. For the steel industry millions of tons of iron ore, coal, limestone and scrap.

Both need equipment. That growing boy can wear out more shoes! And outgrow more suits! The steel companies—growing, too—are wearing out furnaces and outgrowing mills all the time.

Both need to develop. More schooling and his first job will develop the boy. The steel companies must be constantly developing new methods, processes and techniques to speed up and simplify production of more and more steel.

Since World War II the companies built up their steelmaking capacity from 92 million tons a year to 128 million tons—a 40 per cent increase. And present expansion plans call for 15 million tons additional capacity in just 3 years.

Both need financing. For the boy, seems like it's ten to fifteen dollars every few months just for shoes. For the steel companies it's ten to fifteen million dollars for each blast furnace. Replacement of equipment uses up a large part of company profits because allowable depreciation is far from adequate to meet today's costs.

Expansion costs this year alone will run over a billion dollars.

And the steel companies can get the money they need from two sources only: (1) directly from their earnings, and (2) from the savings of investors who have confidence in the ability of the companies to earn profits attractive to such investors.

Yes, they're a lot alike—the growing boy and the expanding steel companies. Encouragement, understanding and support can speed them both to their destiny. And theirs is the destiny of all of us.

MRS. JACK CARRELL In Domestic Role

Mrs. Carrell Tips How to Dress Up That Potato Dish

Mrs. Jack J. Carrell, 2845 Winlock Rd., president-elect of the Hillside PTA, takes time out from her busy schedule to contribute one of her specialties—Scalloped Potatoes—to this week's Herald recipe column. It's not only a busy time in school matters with Mrs. Carrell but she also is interested in government and is serving as secretary of the Republicans Unlimited. She is a second generation native daughter of this area, her grandparents being early pioneers in Southern California. Her late grandfather, R. H. Gilman, who lived in Redondo Beach, was one of the fathers of the orange industry in Southern California.

The Carrells have lived here for the past three and a half years. Mr. Carrell is employed at American Standards and they have one child, JoAnne, 9 years old. The trio often indulge in their favorite hobby, fishing and camping.

And now for the Carrells' popular recipe:

- SCALLOPED POTATOES
  - 8 medium size potatoes, sliced
  - 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
  - 1/4 cup chopped onion
  - 2 tsp. salt
  - 1 tsp. pepper
  - 1 10-oz. can mushroom soup
  - Powdered cheese, for sprinkling on top
- Alternate layers of potatoes, green pepper, and onion in greased baking dish, season each layer with salt and pepper, mix mushroom soup and milk; pour over potatoes. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 1/2 hours. Uncover the last 15 minutes to brown. The cheese sprinkled on top is optional. Serves 8 to 10.

Toastmaster Addresses BPW Meeting

Joe Henschel of the Torrance Toastmasters club addressed the Business and Professional Women's Club of Lomita and Harbor City last week. Henschel, who is a transfer member of the Toastmasters of Torrance and a long time resident of Harbor City, gave a humorous account of modern living services "Business and Modern Conveniences". The occasion was the first meeting of the newly formed women's organization. According to Elnora Garber, the Toastmaster's publicity chairman, the Toastmasters have speakers available for the asking who are trained to speak on nearly any subject.

Paprika Schnitzel Favorite With Our Guest Opera Star

When Clarame Turner, famous contralto star of some of our leading opera companies who appeared in Torrance on Tuesday night, April 10, is on tour, she sticks to a strict diet of milk, fruit, vegetable, and meat prepared in the simplest way. But when the concert and opera season is over one of her first projects is preparing a feast of rich, delicious Hungarian dishes she and her engineer-husband so greatly enjoy.

Here is one of Miss Turner's favorite recipes:

- PAPRIKA SCHNITZEL
- 2 lbs. veal roundsteak 3/4 inch thick
- Cut into serving pieces. Roll in flour and brown in a heavy frying pan in hot fat. When nicely brown on all sides add salt and pepper to taste and about 1 1/2 tps. paprika. Add hot water just to top of meat.
- Add 2 large onions which have been sliced thin and fried in butter (about 2 tps.) until limp but not brown.
- Cover skillet and simmer until meat is tender—about 35-45 minutes. Remove meat and add about 1/4 c. of light cream to gravy. Blend and serve after correcting the seasoning (I usually return the meat to the gravy and serve both together in one large bowl).
- Fluffy, hot buttered rice, and broccoli with lemon butter are nice with this. I like to serve a green salad, hot rolls and a fruit dessert, too.
