Co-op School Announces New Program

The Gardena Co-op Nursery School has just announced its plan to initiate a "feeder group" for the fall session.

Children from the ages of two and one-half to three years will be accepted. The purpose of this group is to prepare the younger child for the kind of social activity and play which come with the nursery school experience.

Seven children will be accepted and will meet each Friday morning from 9 until 11:30. Rosalie Greene, teacher-director will lead the group with the participation of member mothers.

The co-op is a non-sectarian, inter-racial group which meets at 149th and Crenshaw. Reservations are also being accepted for the regular session which meets four mornings a week. This group is for children to five years of age.

For further information, call Pat Hecht, president, or Fay Boardman, membership chairman.
