

NORTH HIGH LIGHTS

By ROSALIE MURRAY

With the furor of rigorous campaigning at an end, Saxons can rest on their laurels which include over a 60 per cent turnout of North students at the polls! Next semester, pretty Patty Reynolds will rule the campus as Associated Student Body president and Mike Lasky will be on hand to regulate the student representative assembly.

North High Night, held to feat our Varsity basketball season recently, was truly a tremendous success. Attendance at this basketball game was greater than at any other such clash in Torrance history. A capacity crowd watched with excitement as the NHS Junior Varsity downed Culver City's JV's; however, our Varsity went on to drop a heartbreaker to the skillful Culver Thin-clads.

SAXONS ARE musing over the current couples about campus in an effort to decide who to support for King and Queen of the Sweethearts Ball. The annual Ball, a Valentine's gift from the North High Band to the school, will feature the coronation of these "sweetest of the Sweethearts."

A trip abroad, visiting a foreign family in their home, and exchanging United States' culture for "old world" ideals are only a few of the treats in store for the American Field Service Student chosen from North High. Selected from the Junior class and sponsored by the Scholarship Society and other North clubs, this year's finalists include Jerry Duncan, Barbara Hunting and Bob Bereskin. Their names and qualifications will be forwarded to a New York AFS office where the final representative will be chosen. Column congratulations to the lucky, talented Saxons!

WOE IS ME! That time is here again, or, more specifically, report card time is here again! Moans, groans and occasional screams will become the universal "Northite" language this Tuesday, Feb. 3. At this time, Saxons will drag from class to class to have faculty members scribble hieroglyphics on little white cards

Policeman to Address Narbonne Civic Group

Juvenile problems will be discussed by a police officer at a meeting of the Narbonne Area Coordinating Council to be held at Narbonne High School at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 5. A discussion of community responsibility will follow his talk.

The Coordinating Council is made up of representatives from various service clubs, PTA, churches, and other citizens interested in community betterment. Currently the group is studying ways to provide sidewalks and recreation for the youth of the area.

That will surely effect Saxon social status at the home front. Oh well, weekend nights at home might even be fun!

That's all the clicks from the Saxon keyboard this week—see you next time!
