

Buying a new home? Where do you start?

Of course—you decide the general location, price range and size of the home your family would like.

But even within those limits, you can't go see all the new homes. So every new-home shopper needs a reliable guide to homes which deserve his inspection. Now, there is such a guide!

This award helps you shop wisely

You can't afford to waste time on the 3 out of 3 new homes which are already electrically obsolete! So look for this symbol of better housing. Every Medallion Home meets these standards:

1. All-electric kitchen, with modern electric range, already installed as part of the basic home plan and cost.

2. Wiring for today and tomorrow. Circuits, current, outlets and switches for all of your present needs... plus extra capacity for the future. Full Housepower.

3. Beautiful and functional lighting. Provision for lighting which illuminates rooms, hallways and entrances for beauty as well as safety and eye comfort.

And Medallion Homes stay up-to-date. The features which make a Medallion Home fun to live in also protect its value. So look for the Medallion award. No family should buy a home without it.

CROWD SHOT . . .Limited space at the YWCA building at Carson St. and Plaza Del Amo brings about situations like this every week, Mrs. Joel Canby, director, reports. Teenage groups meeting there have to scramble for space, and the Chamber of Commerce has been forced to seek larger quarters for its monthly breakfast meetings. Plans to enclose the patio to provide more room were announced this week. (Herald Photo)

Temple, Church to Exhibit Art Show on Brotherhood

"The Human Equation," an art exhibit with a brotherhood theme, opened last night at Temple Menorah, 112 N. Catalina Ave., Redondo Beach. Planned in conjunction with Brotherhood Month, the exhibit will remain at the temple through Sunday. It will be shown at the Manhattan Beach Community Church, 300 Peck St., Manhattan Beach, Sunday, March 1.

Jerome Alan Donson, director of the Long Beach Museum of Art, discussed the relation of art to brotherhood at last night's opening reception. Hostesses at the reception, jointly sponsored by the temple and the church were: Mrs. Kurt Backenheimer, Mrs. Al Baker, Mrs. Trudy Barkin, Mrs. Robert Eckhouse, Mrs. Norman Luman, and Mrs. Fred Spangler, all associated with the temple. The reception committee consisted of Mrs. Paul Mandel of the temple and Mrs. Eileen Brown, of the church. The centerpiece for the main table was by Mrs. Sidney Greene, of Temple Menorah.

the public today and tomorrow from 8 to 10 p. m.

HIGHLIGHTING the brotherhood events of the temple and church tomorrow will be a sabbath service to be presented at the temple at 8:30 p.m., conducted according to the Jewish faith. Rev. Henry Schrurlock, associate minister of the Manhattan Beach Community Church, will deliver the sermon, "Where is Religion Today?" and Rabbi Henri Front will lead prayers. Music for the service will be provided by Cantor Harry Newman and the temple choir, directed by Fay Newman, organist. A Sabbath reception will follow. Jewish ritual objects will be explained by the rabbi for the benefit of guests present.

Following the final showing of the art exhibit at the temple Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m., it will be transferred to the church by Robert McMahon and Robert Neathery of the church.
