Needlework Guilds Slate Ingatherings

It's ingathering time again on the peninsula!

Once again, the Peninsula Volunteers of the Needlework Guild of America are making plans for their local area ingatherings to be followed by the one huge ingathering at the Assistance League in San Pedro on Thursday, Oct. 23, from 9 to 12.

Mrs. Donald H. Earl, president, has issued instructions to the various directors regarding their local ingatherings and plans have been made for a bountiful harvest of clothing to be counted at the meeting. Later, these garments are distributed to the agencies which the guild supports.

Besides the many women who work for the guild, this year it is Mrs. Earl's special pride that two Junior groups have been started under the direction of Mrs. Harold S. Bowen of Portuguese Bend. One group is for seventh and eighth grade girls; the other from grades 9 to 12. The work of the girls this year will be displayed at the Art Gallery with the Palos Verdes Estates group.

The following dates have been set throughout the harbor, peninsula, and bay areas for local ingatherings:

Palos Verdes Drive East, Wednesday, Oct. 22, from 10 to 2 at the home of Mrs. Ronald J. Teeples, 27841 Palos Verdes Drive East.

Palos Drive North held its meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. H. E. Kidder, 27125 Dapplegray Lane, Rolling Hills.

Palos Verdes Estates has set aside Wednesday, Oct. 15, from 10 to 2 at the Art Gallery.

Portuguese Bend will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 21, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Stan Peters, 3 Tangerine Rd., Portuguese Bend.

Following these many worth while gatherings with their amazing production will come the giant meeting on Oct. 23. Hostesses for the coffee hour that morning will be the Woman's Auxiliary of the Community Hospital.

Group Plans, Many Events

Activities for the month were planned at the meeting of the Ladies of Columbus held Monday, Oct. 6, at the KC hall in Hawthorne.

The group will stage a toy party at the home of Ruth Thompson, 11416 Cherry Ave., Inglewood, on Oct. 16.

A linen shower was set up for Oct. 20 at 8:30 p.m. at the KC hall. At this social meeting, Father Hollinger will show colored slides of his recent trip to the Brussels Fair.

Another money-making event, a rummage sale, was planned for Oct. 29 at 5827 S. Broadway, Los Angeles.

Proceeds from all these events will be to Fr. Mong mino's fund.

Dear Ann Landers

expecting our first baby next month.

What makes this all the more remarkable is my husband and I are Jewish, his sister and her husband are Catholic, and his brother and wife are Protestant. We all get along beautifully.

My mother-in-law is employed downtown and we three gals divide the household chores, and yard work. We each do our own cooking and dishes. While I wouldn't recommend this set-up for most people, it has worked wonderfully for us. — Mrs. H.P.R.

Dear Mrs. H.P.R.: Judging from my mail there are about four families in the United States who could manage with this arrangement. I'm delighted that you found each other. And please write to me a year from today.

Dear Ann: I'll be 21 years old in December, have had three years of college and now hold a responsible position. I'm respectable, have good sense and have never caused my parents one minute of worry.

Last night my father calmly and for no reason announced he's setting up a new "rule." If I'm not in the house by midnight he will bolt the door from the inside and I'll have to sleep on the porch. My brother, who is a freak punk of 17, can come in any old time "because he is a boy."

I seldom stay out past midnight, but when I go to a party or a dance I don't want the humiliation of telling my date I must be in by midnight. He'd wonder what sort of a girl I am that I'm on such a short leash. What shall I do? — Connie.

Apparently your father doesn't realize that his little girl is a grown woman, soon old enough to vote. Tell him you can't accept his unreasonable edict and if he butts you out of the house you'll move out bag and baggage the next day. Then do it.

Dear Ann: I'm only 14 but my troubles are as serious as some of the older people who cry on your shoulder.

I fell in love last year with the most gorgeous fellow in school. Of course I was only 13 then and he ignored me because he was 17. Now that I'm 14 and more grown up I thought he's change, but he hasn't. I've seen him in movies but he never tries to sit by me. At dances he doesn't come near me. On the bus he'd rather stand than share my seat.

Last week I asked him why he ignored me and he told me to "get lost." I'll never love anyone the way I love him. What can I do?—Bootsie.

Take his advice and get lost — for a year or two. He's made it plain that he's not interested, so put away the track shoes and leave him alone. A girl 14 is too young for a boy 18. If you keep pestering him you'll kill your chances for later. So do like the boy says.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

BEST BUYS FOR THE WEEK

In Torrance Markets

PROTEIN FOODS

Now that cooler temperatures are here there's a decided change in demand for the quick-cooking items, steaks, chops, and ready-to-serve meats. As a result the markets in your neighborhood may be offering those meats as "specials." You'll find ready-to-eat hams and picnics, and canned hams and picnics in the "special" section.

Chickens and turkeys still hold their place in the budget department. For a more chicken flavored salad blend a little chicken broth into mayonnaise when you make your next salad. You'll be surprised at the difference.

Fresh pork cuts are more abundant—this is the time of year to expect it. When you have some leftover pork roast treat your family with Glazed Pork and Sweet Potatoes:

2 cups diced cooked pork
3 cups diced cooked sweet potatoes
¼ cup honey
1 cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
Salt

Place pork in shallow casserole. Top with potatoes and cover with remaining ingredients. Bake at 350° F. about 30 minutes—or until lightly browned.

EGGS—Supply of small size has practically moved off market. Plenty of large and mediums—and prices are steady.

TWO APPLES A DAY KEEPS A HEADACHE AWAY . . . maybe.

Researchers at Michigan State University report that apples may be one of nature's best tranquilizers. They find that students who eat two apples a day have fewer tensions, headaches and emotional upsets than those who eat none.

Beautiful apples are flooding the stands . . . Delicious, Jonathan, McIntosh, and Newton Pippins. If you want to buy at orchards drive up to Oak Glen. Their apples have never been better.

ON THE PRODUCE STANDS

TOMATOES—Wholesale prices indicate that you should find tomatoes the very best vegetable buy this week. Beautiful quality. October is California's leading tomato month.

All potatoes deserve attention—prices are down. White potatoes, sweets and yams.

Cabbage and cucumbers are abundant. We'll have good cabbage for some time, but the cucumber season is short.

GRAPES — Italias, Tokays and Malagas are the best quality on the market. Thompson Seedless are beyond peak of quality.

HONEYDEW MELONS — A strong return. Top quality in general distribution.
