Fight Promoter 'East Lynne' to End Run

Nationally-known fight promoter Mrs. Cal Eaton and George Biddles, manager of ex-champion Hogan Kid Bassey, were featured speakers at the Torrance Lions luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Mrs. Eaton, the only licensed woman fight promoter in the country, gave a Lion members the highlights of a 20-year career in the prize fight and wrestling business, relating incidents of interest relative to such athletes as Gorgeous George, Art Aragon and welter champion Don Jordan and others.

George Biddles, manager of Hogan Kid Bassey, awarded a pair of ring-side tickets to the championship return match between Bassey and Davey Moore in August to Milt Pagel.

Terminating a four-week run at Hermosa Playhouse Saturday night will be the 100-year-old melodrama "East Lynne," by Mrs. Henry Wood.

Directed by Charles Gray, "East Lynne" has just enough of the "hiss the villain and cheer the hero" mixed with the sadness and tragedy of the situation to provide a delightful evening of theater, according to Jo McDonald.

Persons desiring reservations for today, tomorrow or Saturday's evening performances are asked to phone Frontier 2-5000.

Cast favorites among theatergoers during the past three weeks have been Jackie Moore and Cal Sever. Also appearing in the production are Ed Sianl, Helen Carney, Jo McDonald, and Barbara Hare.
