

All Women Invited To League Meet

League of Women Voters of Palos Verdes Estates is holding a get-acquainted coffee for new and prospective members this evening, Sept. 3 at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Robert Christensen, 121 Via Alameda, Hollywood Riviera. Mrs. Allen Curtis of Torrance will co-host this event at which the purpose and functions of the League of Women Voters will be described.

All interested women are invited to attend. Membership in the Palos Verdes chapter is open to all women of voting age in the South Bay area.

On Tuesday, Sept. 8, at 9:30 a.m., the League will hold its final foreign policy summer workshop in the home of Miss Ione Messner, 705 Esplanade, Redondo Beach.

The subject to be described will be the economic area of U.S. foreign policy. Questions to be considered will include: What are the aims of U.S. foreign economic policy; how is U.S. foreign policy related to domestic prosperity and to our quest for a secure and peaceful world; how will regional groupings such as the European Community Market affect our economical and political interests; and what U.S. policies will help prevent trade warfare between trading blocs now developing in the non-communist world.

Members of the foreign policy committee are Mmes. Lee Bower, Bryan Hardwick, Albert Hook, W. Murray Todd, Victor White, Ralph Wuerker and Julia Kelly, with Mrs. William Kingsley as chairman.

Eastern Trip

Mrs. R. C. Roberson, 3622 W. 172nd St., returned recently from a month's vacation in the east. She attended the wedding of her niece in Detroit and went from there to visit relatives near Boston, Mass.

TORRANCE HERALD

SOCIAL WORLD

Edna Cloyd, Editor

SEPTEMBER 3, 1959

TORRANCE HERALD

Nine

Candlelight Ceremony

King-Wolverton Nuptials

Delicate touches of pink in the bride's bouquet and the gowns of her attendants set the white and pink color theme for beautiful nuptials on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Methodist Church when Miss Claudia King became the bride of Richard A. Wolverton.

For this ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. King, 2267 Carson St., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. Wolverton of Fresno, the chancel of the church was decorated with white gladioli, stock and spider chrysanthemums. It was in this same church that the bride's parents were married 25 years ago.

As the wedding guests assembled, Harold Hutchinson, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied the Rev. Donald Shelby who sang "O Perfect Love" and "Wedding Benediction".

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gowned in white taffeta fashioned on empire lines. Soft pleats fell from the back of the gown into a chapel train. The jacket of the gown was of Chantilly lace with a Queen Anne collar and long pointed sleeves. The bride designed and made her own wedding gown. A pearl tiara held the illusion veil and the bridal bouquet was of white stephanotis, Queen Anne's lace and pink rosebuds.

Miss Laurella King served as her sister's honor attendant. She wore an empire gown of watermelon pink taffeta and carried pink rosebuds and Queen Anne's lace.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Kesselman, Mrs. James Perry, Miss Jean Watson. Their dresses were of blush pink taffeta and each carried a pink rosebud nosegay.

Miss Lorna King was the flower girl and the rings were carried by Scott Hofferber.

Donald Wolverton stood as best man and ushers were Roger Wolverton, James Perry and Dick Hiebert.

The Rev. Gilbert S. Zimmerman officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony.

A reception was held at the church immediately following the wedding. Mrs. Fred Hayes

MRS. RICHARD A. WOLVERTON ... On Wedding Day

(Portrait by Seeman)

was in charge of the bride's and El Camino College in book.

The newlyweds are on a honeymoon in northern California. Their new address will be 1737 Martina Ave., Torrance.

The bride is a native of Torrance. She was graduated from the local high school in 1955

Mrs. Edythe Kerr, Local Artist, to Present Show

Mrs. Edythe Kerr, 1446 W. 214th St. will present a one woman art show at the Artists Co-operative Gallery, 121 S. Pacific Ave., in Redondo Beach from Sept. 11 through Sept. 24. The local artist began painting only six years ago and has received all of her instruction in the Adult Education classes at Torrance High school under art teachers Antoinette Wiking and Richard Oliver.

She is a member of the Torrance Art Group, the Desert Art Center in Palm Springs and the Artists Co-operative Gallery.

Mrs. Kerr and her husband, Andy Kerr have lived in Torrance for the past fifteen years. Mrs. Kerr is a native of Illinois and lived in Colorado for ten years before moving to Torrance. The couple have one daughter and one grandson.

Although she was born before the turn of the century, Mrs. Kerr says she vividly recalls some of the scenes from her childhood, many of which are depicted in her painting.

SEASCAPES AND DESERT SCENE . . . Mrs. Edythe Kerr, whose work will be exhibited at the Artists Cooperative Gallery, 121 S. Pacific Ave., in Redondo Beach is pictured here at work on a nature scene, one of the many to be exhibited at the one woman art show. The public is invited to view the oil paintings.

IN THE SAME FOOTSTEPS . . . Torrance is home for these three generations who gathered for a reunion of "The Pinafore Club," organized in 1942. The mothers of these children were Pinafores, all five and six years of age. Last Friday afternoon at the McDonald home, the Pinafores were there with their children as well as their mothers. Posing for the cameraman are from left, back row, Mmes. Fred J. Fischer, Ralph E. Sprout, H. C. St. Martin, E. J. Ludwig, Fred Bever, H. E. McDonald. Front row, Mmes. Jesse Y. Meridew and Jesse III; Clayton Mallard and Rebecca Lynn; R. H. Bezanson, Steven and Cheryl Lynn; J. L. Shellberger and Janet Lee; N. D. Morin and granddaughter, Terri Gilbert.

Yesteryear and the Future

Fond Memories, Bright Hopes Spark the 'Pinafore' Reunion

The time has come when the third generation takes the spotlight at the occasional reunions of "The Pinafores," a club of little girls which was organized in 1942. The Pinafores were young ladies of five and six years of age, who were taught all the tricks of housekeeping by their mothers at their meetings held once a week in a member's home.

Last Friday afternoon a group of these mothers, their Pinafore daughters and their children spent a delightful afternoon at the home of Mrs. McDonald, 1626 Beech Ave. Besides admiring the bright new generation, many little girl antics of the early 40s were warmly and vividly recalled.

The afternoon hours were pleasantly spent catching up on what has transpired since the last reunion held several years ago at the St. Martin home. Mrs. McDonald served refreshments as the guests sat around the table to visit.

Attending were Mrs. Fred Fischer and her little Pinafore, Jane, who is now Mrs. Jesse Meridew of Garden Grove. Enhancing the party was young Jesse Meridew III.

With Mrs. McDonald was her daughter, Jane, now Mrs. James Shellberger of Rolling Hills and her charming young daughter Janet Lee.

Mrs. Ralph Sprout was there with her daughter, Sally, who has changed her name to Mrs. Clayton Mallard. Meeting the friends of her mother and grandmother was little Miss Rebecca Lynn Mallard.

Mrs. Noel Morin and her daughter, Sheryl, of Rosin Ave. are vacationing at Lake Tahoe.

TO KNOW IS TO UNDERSTAND . . . The Junior Woman's club will devote its coming club year to the betterment of International Relations. Magazines and scrapbooks will be sent to foreign countries and the club members in turn will study these countries. The project on International Relations will be directed by Mrs. Joseph Boylan, chairman, who is pictured here with her family from left, Beverly, Mr. Boylan, Barbara and Joey looking at a scrapbook to be sent to Turkey.

YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

"The Will Was Probated . . ."

Dear Ann: My wife's mother lived with us for 12 years. She helped with the house work and cooking and was wonderful with the children. We never considered her a burden. The only time I became slightly annoyed with her was when she'd take the page with your column out of the paper and forget to put it back.

My wife has two sisters and a brother. They never offered to help with Grandma's expenses. We bought her clothes, paid her doctor bills and saw to it that she had a little money in her purse. The last year of her life was expensive. She was ill a great deal.

Grandma's will was probated last week. We didn't know she had anything. To our surprise she owned modest amounts of stocks and War Bonds from both World War I and II.

The estate is not large by some standards, but it's a lot of money to people like us.

Now the Big Question: Grandma left everything to us. The brother and sisters are closing in. They say Grandma was "all there" and it's up to us to do the "right thing." So—Ann Landers, what is the right thing? Shall we let them share in Grandma's money?—B and C

Dear B and C: The money isn't Grandma's, it's yours. She left it to you — all of it. If you want to share your money with a swarm of locusts, go ahead.

Dear Ann: What do you do about friends who borrow books and forget to return them? (Sometimes, when they do come back, several pages are folded over, passages are underlined in ink and coffee-cup circles appear here and there.)

Do you suggest such friends buy a new book?—THE SIMP

Dear Simp: If this happens more than once with the same slob — I mean friend — then you deserve it.

People who forget to return books, or return them in poor condition are boors—and their name is legion. Don't ask for a new book. If they aren't decent enough to bring back the old one they'll never buy a new one. Just inform them (when they want another book) that the lending library is out of business — and why.

Dear Ann: I came from a small town and grew up with a fine girl I'll call Molly. Before I left for the service I gave her a ring. She wrote to me every day and I wrote whenever I felt like it, which was about twice a month. When she began to describe the things she was buying for our home I felt like a dog because I'd already started to date Anita, who lived in the town where I was stationed.

(Continued on Page 10)