

$150,000 Phone Expansion Work

Pacific Telephone in the next five months will spend an estimated $150,000 expanding telephone facilities in the Torrance central office at 1307 Cravens, according to manager Dick Pyle.

Installation of row-upon-row of giant bays of "crossbar" switches began last week, Pyle said. The switch is the most modern to date and is similar to the one that now enables FAirfax customers to dial nationwide.

Western Electric technicians are placing the frames of switches in locations on the first and second floors of the building, Pyle said. When the project is completed in March, it will serve an additional 1650 phones in the exchange through 1961.

FAirfax long distance telephone users will also be served from another major toll center now under expansion in Wilmington. Currently long distance calls are being routed to Los Angeles. Next June, calls will be directed through Wilmington.

Pyle said that there are more than 14,300 telephones in the FAirfax exchange now. Ten years ago there were 5000. If telephone growth continues at its present pace, Pyle noted, we will have more than 25,000 phones here by 1970.
