Tickets for 'Queen Show' Nearly Gone

A few free tickets for the "Queen for a Day" program next Tuesday saluting the city of Torrance are available at the Chamber of Commerce, manager Dick Fitzgerald reported yesterday.

The show, titled "A Christmas Salute to Torrance," will inaugurate a new series of shows saluting Southland cities. All contestants plus the "Queen" will be selected from the audience of Torrance women, Fitzgerald said. The Queen selected at the show will get "all of her Christmas shopping" as a prize, Jack Bailey, star of the show, announced.

Buses taking Torrance area women to the show will be available at $1 per person for the round trip. The buses will be located behind the city hall at 3031 Torrance Blvd. and will leave at 10 a.m. Doors to the Moulin Rouge, where the nationally televised show originates, will open at 11:15 and close promptly at 12:15.

Those desiring luncheon may take advantage of a buffet offering, Fitzgerald said. Prices for the luncheon range from $1 to $1.80, he added.

A special table for civic officials has been reserved.
