

Girl Sports Writer Gives Some New Angles to Pro Football

By DIANE JESSEN

Never have I seen so many people in one place as at the Coliseum Friday night for the Rams-Redskin game. Now I understand how the Coliseum in Rome got so tattered. Imagine 56,026 people with 112,052 trampling feet!

The reason for my excitement? My first pro game.

Row 71, seat 110 is where I finally landed. It was so high up I thought I felt the heat from the lights. But as it turned out it was only a fan's hot coffee dripping down my back. Speaking of fans, next to me sat an ardent Redskin rooter, whom I shall call Hardy, who insisted on having his portable radio blaring away. I wound up pretty confused as to what was really going on or coming off.

The first quarter started out fairly well for my Ram heroes. Ollie Matson ran 56 yards on a 3rd and four for a first and 10. See if you can figure that one out, I couldn't. The Rams got a total of 11 firsts and the Redskins made 12 firsts.

Second quarter didn't move me much except for a couple of good passes. Of course I couldn't tell a good pass from a bad one—but Hardy said they were "Golden great!"—sooo.

Ed Vereb of the Redskins was injured a bit this quarter. I swear the way those guys rough around he could have been dead. But how does that saying go? "The only good Injun is a dead Injun."

Right smack in the middle of one of the more exciting plays, where Matson licked up 50 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter, I got a 12-inch hotdog, a bag of popcorn and a wet drippy coke shoved in my face. All of which I passed to Hardy—of course.

Jaguar Jon Arnett and Touchdown Tommy Wilson always seemed to be all over the place. Gad—what names. Touchdown Tommy finally was at the right place at the right time in the fourth quarter and he scored the winning touchdown for the Rams.

It seemed to me that he ran right over a big Indian (No. 76) who looked like a dirty mountain.

All in all, it was quite an experience.

So men, try taking your wife to a game this season. I'm sure you'd enjoy a new inside view to the outside of football.

CYCLE ACTION . . . Such as this can be seen by local bike enthusiasts this Friday night at Gardena's Ascot Stadium as Inglewood's Don Hawley, rounding corner, will be favored to win his first race of the season.

5000 Rainbow Trout Diverted as Trackdown Set for San Dimas

Five thousand subcatchable size rainbow trout that had been scheduled for planting in San Dimas Reservoir have been diverted to Matilija Lake instead, because San Dimas is going to be drawn down. The fire that recently denuded much of San Dimas Reservoir's watershed has required the Los Angeles County Flood Control District to modify the reservoir's outlet to cope with potential flows of silt from the burned area.

Excursion Boat To Make Tours Of Harbor Area

Biggest and newest addition to a growing fleet of boats in and around Redondo Beach is the deluxe excursion launch, "The Holiday." The craft in recent weekends has been at Redondo Fisherman's Wharf.

The new ship has an all-steel hull and can easily carry 250 passengers on its upper "sun deck" and lower "shade deck."

It cruises at 12 knots. Ultimately, when King Harbor is completed, "The Holiday" will make regular runs from Redondo Beach to Catalina Island.

Present uses are for the short excursions Saturdays and Sundays, night cruises, and charter parties, McRae said.

Owner of the ship is Redondo Pleasure Fishing. Builder was Sherman Boat Works, Long Beach. It cost $125,000.

Special Afternoon Voyages for Bottom Fishermen in Redondo

A special afternoon voyage for anglers who like bottom fishing now is part of the daily schedule at Redondo Beach Fisherman's Wharf, Redondo Beach, fishing chief Gordon McRae reports.

The sportfisher "G.W." is scheduled to leave daily at 12:45 p.m. on a five to 10 mile course of "bottom fishing only." Outings will run from five to six hours.

McRae said the longer shift and the out-of-the-ordinary mission has resulted in the "G.W." being equipped with a special crew.

He said the last time Redondo Pleasure Landing specialized in exclusive bottom fishing trips was three years ago. The run has been discontinued due to popular demand, McRae said.
