

YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

Glad They Aren't Parents...

Dear Ann Landers: You'll never print this since it slaughters a sacred cow. But after my wife and I read the letter from the couple who wanted to wait 20 years and THEN have their family, we decided to write our views.

Forty-five years ago, when we married, we decided we didn't want children. We are just not the parent type and honest enough to admit it.

Now as we near our late 60's we must congratulate each other on our good sense. This stuff and junk about children being a comfort in the later years is a laugh. Many of our friends are financially strapped—dead tired from carrying their kids on their backs. If the PARENTS need help (Heaven forbid) the kids get into a fight about who should take them in or help them out.

We've had a full and interesting life minus a lot of grief. If we had it to do over we'd do it the same way.—WORRY FREE

Dear Worry Free: To use a tired cliché, "It takes all kinds of people to make a world" and isn't it fortunate—because if all people felt like you two there wouldn't be much of a world.

You and your wife are entitled to live as you please but you remind me of the pairs of worms in the horse-radish jug. They thought it was the sweetest place in the world because it was the only place they'd ever been.

Dear Ann: I'm 15 years old, almost 6 feet tall and weigh 160 pounds. Before you say "Isn't that nice" let me tell you I'm a girl.

I know I'm big for my age but I can't help it. My grandmother who lives with us, is a problem. Whenever anyone came to the house she would say, "How old do you think Marcia is—take a guess." They'd guess about 19 or 20 and I'd feel like crawling under the rug.

I asked her please not to say it anymore but she just laughed and kept it up. The other day she did it again and I really got mad. I said to the visitor, "Now, how old do you think GRANDMA is?" The visitor replied "About 80."

Well, grandma is 74, and she was furious. She told Mom and Dad on me and they said I should apologize. Should I?

—TALL MARCIA
Dear Marcia: Apologize. And if Grandma has not learned her lesson say it again and apologize again.

Older people often do not realize the agony suffered by kids who are large for their age. To call it to the attention of visitors repeatedly when she knows how you feel is cruel. You should be permitted to protect yourself as best you can.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married four years. We have two children. Ever since the first one was born we've been arguing about something. Maybe we can settle it.

I am Italian. My husband is German. He says the nationality of the children is German, because children always take the nationality of the father. I say they are half and half. What do you say?

—B.N.Y.
Dear B.N.Y.: If your children were born in America, their nationality is American. Nationality means "country born in." Their ancestral background, however, is German and Italian.

Are your parents too strict. You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How to Live With Your Parents" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Barbara Clemens Married To C.W. Howard on Sept. 9

Western Avenue Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding ceremony on Sept. 9 at 8 p.m. uniting Miss Barbara Ann Clemens and Charles William Howard. Mrs. Alta Clemens, 1511 W. 257th St. Harbor City is mother of the bride. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wayne Howard, 325 E. 237th St., Wilmington. The bride came to the altar on the arm of Mr. James H. Titus who gave her in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of silk organza over taffeta. Appliques of lace decorated the skirt and the bodice which had a V-neckline and long sleeves. A butterfly bow added back interest to the gown. A queen's crown of aurora borealis crystals held the silk illusion veil and the bride carried two white orchids encircled by tea roses and stephanotis.

Miss Sherry Cheek was the maid of honor. She wore a coral satin sheath dress and carried cream colored carnations. Bridesmaids were Misses Sue Chapman, Joanne Kangas and Sharon Sandusky. They also wore coral sheaths and carried cream carnations tied with gold lace.

Little Julie Crow was the flower girl, wearing a white nylon frock. Candles were lighted by Jimmy Crow and Gregg Loux. The rings were carried by Bobby McClellan. Wayne Howard stood as best man and ushers were Jim Turner, Don Blevens and Darrell Robinson.

Rev. Walter Graham officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Pat Owendyk played the wedding marches and accompanied Mike Powers who sang "Through the Years," "For You Alone" and "Wedding Prayer." A reception was held in the social hall at the church. Miss Marilyn Santi was in charge of the guest book. The newlyweds spent a honeymoon in northern California and are now at home at 1843 Cedar Ave., Long Beach. The bride was graduated from Narbonne High and her husband is a Banning High graduate.
