

Scouts Conducting Boy-to-Boy Campaign for Higher Membership

Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers in this area are conducting a personal, boy-to-boy campaign to enroll new members of the Los Angeles Area Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Of the 1518 units in the Los Angeles Area Council, 586 are Cub Packs for boys in dark blue, 8 through 10 years old; another 625 are Scout troops for the khaki-clad boys of 11 through 14. Teen-age boys in Scouting wear the dark green field uniform, or the dress dark blue blazer, befitting their more mature years. They range from 14 to 18 years old, and belong to 304 Explorer Posts. NEARLY 50,000 boys are registered Cubs, Scouts or Explorers in the Los Angeles Area Council.

Area Council.

Cub packs and Scout troops are now planning their winter programs, which include winter camps and hikes, field trips, dinners, courts of honor, parents' night, skits and handicraft.

Explorers are programming dances, swimming parties, lunas, community service projects, and picking experts to help them with their post specialties—from skin diving to electronics, from autos or judo to photography or mountain climbing.

INDIVIDUAL Scouts are planning advancement through the merit badge program, picking from nearly 100 subjects, those that they will learn about and master in the next months.

The bulging calendars mean fun and excitement for every boy who joins Scouting now, according to Robert J. Cheney, chairman of the organization and extension committee, which is conducting the membership enrollment.

Clown to Entertain YMCA Members at Navajo Benefit

The Torrance YMCA will be filled with laughter on Saturday night, November 12, when the local youth agency is invaded by nearly a dozen clowns and hundreds of kids on hand to see the antics of circus-style funnymen.

Navajo Indians. Located on barren red mud flats, the Indians can only hope to survive with the annual gifts given through the Torrance YMCA.

Teenagers and adults will accompany the gifts to Arizona again this year, staying at Grand Canyon National Park during the winter charity trek. The Hughes Clown Club grew interested in the project, and offered their entertainment to help the cause.

The YMCA Clown Show will be presented by the Hughes Aircraft Employees Clown Club, widely known for their numerous appearances at children's hospitals across the state.

The show begins at 7:30 p.m. at the Torrance YMCA headquarters, 2080 Washington Ave., on Saturday, Nov. 12. All who bring toys, clothes, or food are welcome.

Admission to the big show will be gained by bringing a large box of warm clothes, canned food or workable toys to the Torrance YMCA that evening. These gifts will be sorted and packed by Y teenagers during the next few weeks. Then, following Christmas, the YMCA will deliver all toys, clothes and food to a desperately needy group of Navajo Indians.
