Army Enlisting Musicians For Assignment to Band

Qualified young musicians are being enlisted here for assignment directly to a U.S. Army Band, it was announced yesterday by the local recruiting team of SFC Elwin C. Elliott and S/Sgt Donald Fleming.

Direct enlistment in an Army Band offers young musicians unparalleled opportunities to further their musical careers while at the same time fulfilling their military obligations, Sergeant Elliott emphasized.

Before enlisting, the musician must demonstrate his musical ability at an audition with an Army bandleader, according to Sergeant Fleming.

Assignment with a band can lead to posts in Europe, the Far East, Hawaii, throughout the United States wherever bandmen are stationed, the recruiters pointed out.

Instrumentalists may perform in a military marching, concert, or dance band, and others have opportunities as arranger and librarian, repairman, bandleader.

Other Army benefits in career opportunities and retirement compensation are available to bandmen, the recruiters said.
